Alternative To General U. S. Boost

BY B. L. LIVINGSTONE

Washington — Key congressional Democrats are weighing a serious drive in the new congress to plug long-standing loopholes in the tax laws in an expected scramble for added revenues.

Faced with new government spending prospects and a large budget deficit, tax experts regard such a move the only feasible alternative to a general tax increase.

No boost in either personal or business income tax rates is now contemplated.

Retiring Sec. of Commerce Weeks renewed yesterday a suggestion for a uniform manufacturers' sales tax. He said it would permit some cuts in both corporation and individual income tax rates and still increase revenue.

But key house members see such a move as at best a last-ditch device.

Former Iraqi Premier Faces Death Sentence

Fadhil Jamali and 2 Former Army Leaders Convicted of Conspiracy

Baghdad, Iraq — Fadhil Jamali, former Iraq premier who has an American wife, has been sentenced to death by a military court.

The court also condemned yesterday two former Iraqi army leaders, Gen. Rafik Aref, former chief of staff, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Ghazi Dahghani. Executions are by hanging in Iraq.

The special military court sentenced them on convictions of plotting to invade Syria and illegally force her into federation with Iraq in 1956 and 1957; of asking U. S. British and Baghdad pact help in the plot; and of generally endangering Iraq's security and world peace.

This was the first verdict by the 5-man tribunal since the revolutionary government began trials of the leading politicians under slain King Faisal II. More than 100 persons are under arrest.

Gen. Aref is not the same as Col. Abdel Salam Aref, a leader with Premier Abdel Kerim Kassam of the July 14 coup. Col. Aref is awaiting trial on charges of fomenting trouble favoring President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Wife U. S. Citizen
Jamali's wife, the former Sara Hayden Powell of Philadelphia, is still an American citizen. The couple has three children. Mrs. Jamali has a sister, Mrs. Lydia Johnson of Prospect Park, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

The Jamalis met in 1929 when both were attending the University of Chicago. They married in 1933 after she went to Baghdad to teach English at the Queen Aliyah College for Girls. At last report she was still in Baghdad.

Jamali also has served as Iraq's foreign minister and U. N. delegate. It was widely reported that Jamali was killed in the revolution but he later turned up in jail.

Cuban Rebel Sympathizers Caught Loading Munitions Aboard Plane

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. —

Federal agents surprised nearly two dozen Cuban rebel sympathizers in the act of loading munitions aboard a plane and charged 22 persons with violating the neutrality act.

Two women were among the group seized with an arms-laden B18 bomber on abandoned Prospect air field last night.

Pilot Arrested
Border patrol agents blasted a fleeing auto's tire with machine gun bullets, preventing the getaway of five of their prisoners.

The airplane pilot, who identified himself as Rodger Steadman, 41, of Miami, a native of Huron, S. D., was arrested later at a Fort Lauderdale bus station.

Agents said a big assortment of rifles, machine guns, ammunition, medical supplies, boots and field equipment were placed aboard the plane as they watched from an automobile in front of the concealment.

Some of the material was in packages marked "Fidel" about to take off.

One of the group loading the plane gunned the engines of Cuba's Oriente province. There was no immediate word on where the plane came from or who owned it.

Agents said the last owner of a available record was the Bank of Anchorage, Alaska.

The 2-engined plane landed about dusk on the former air field which is being developed as an industrial site by Fort Lauderdale. Sharp-eyed residents of nearby homes by telephone Broward county authorities. Deputy Sheriff and state and local police re-17 persons were reported killed — among them the rebel gunman, the crew and most of the bona fide passengers.

Only last Saturday 16 Cubans were released after serving 60-day sentences for taking from cars and from weeds around the field's edge trying to run guns to Cuba in a boat that was captured as it put out of Port Everglades.

Beck Denies Doing Wrong In Tax Dispute

Used Non-Taxable Union Funds, His Attorney States

Tacoma, Wash. — Dave Beck's defense in his income tax evasion trial will be that he took non-taxable union funds "in a rather peculiar way" and became rich, his lawyers disclosed yesterday.

William Dwyer, of Beck's team of defense attorneys, said in an opening statement to a federal court jury that the former boss of the teamsters union got into trouble through "sloppy" handling of union money.

"But he did no wrong where his taxes were concerned," Dwyer said.

Beck's long-awaited trial opened yesterday in U. S. district court and a jury of eight men and four women was seated with unexpected speed.

Tax-Fraud Charged
The one-time Seattle laundry truck driver, who rose to one of the nation's most powerful labor posts, is charged with defrauding the government out of $240,000 in income taxes for the years 1950-53.

Dwyer said he told the jury that when Beck takes the stand he will show he took $380,000 in teamsters funds over a period of years, invested the money and eventually repaid it—becoming wealthy in the process.

He said the 64-year-old Beck treated the union money as a loan, but the defense lawyer did not directly call it a loan.

"Beck took the money in a rather peculiar way . . . an informal way, and it was this informality that got him into this difficulty . . . These were the dealings of a self-confident, self-educated man. This is what brought about the well-known downfall of Mr. Beck," Dwyer said.

(The $380,000 figured prominently in questioning of Beck at senate racketeering committee hearings. The committee later accused Beck of having stolen the money.)

Nelson and Other Party Heads Meet

Wisconsin Dells — Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson and other top Democratic leaders in Wisconsin, including those named to state offices in the Nov. 4 election, met here today.

There was no previous announcement of the meeting and its purpose was not disclosed but it was assumed they wanted to go over plans in connection with taking over administration of state government in January.

Nelson defeated Republican Gov. Vernon Thomson to become Wisconsin's first Democratic chief executive since 1932. Nelson's first official action comes this month when hearings open on the executive budget to furnish funds for state departments and operations.

Nelson was reportedly meeting with the men who were swept into office with him, including Philco Nash, Wisconsin Rapids, lieutenant governor; John Reynolds, Green Bay, attorney general, and Eugene Lamb, Milwaukee, treasurer.

Army Rocket to Moon

'Planet' Would Not Return

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

San Antonio, Texas — The army plans to shoot a rocket right at the moon and create a man-made planet, Dr. Werner von Braun said today.

The German-born rocket genius predicts "it has a one in two chance of doing just that."

The rocket would never come back. It would escape from the earth's gravity and be captured by the sun's gravity. Falling into an orbit around the sun, it would become a 30-pound baby planet, revolving around the sun much like the earth, Mars and Jupiter.

Early in December the first attempt probably will be made in the first week of December.

It will be the first of two moon-probe shots by the army.

The air force has so far launched three probes. One soared about 79,000 miles of the 239,000 to the moon in October, then was tugged back by earth's gravity to burn up in our atmosphere.

The army plans to shoot its probe at such high speed that it will go past the moon and forever escape from the earth. It might pass within 10 to 50 thousand miles of the moon.

It would soar millions of miles beyond earth and the moon until the sun's gravity pulled it into some yet unpredictable orbit around the sun.

It would become a ward of the sun, not of the earth.

Some details of the army moon-probe plane became known here informally at a space symposium attended by 700 space and medical scientists. The symposium is sponsored by the air force's school of aviation medicine and arranged by southwest research institute.

Less Difficult
The air force probes were designed — and given some control — to swing them around the moon once, or into a steady orbit around the moon, or near the moon and then home again.

The army plan is in a large sense much less difficult.

The small fourth-stage of a multi-stage rocket has to be given an initial speed of 25,000 miles an hour or better. That is the escape velocity to get it forever away from the earth.

The pull of earth's gravity would slow it down, but somewhat like a car coasting uphill, it would have enough speed to

Nation Pays Tribute to War Heroes

By the Associated Press

Against a background of continuing cold war with Russia, Americans paid tribute this Veterans' day to those who lost their lives fighting for their country.

In scores of observances there were calls for renewed readiness to sacrifice and for resolute facing up to communist attempts at blackmail.

It was the note struck at the national capital's observance by Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff.

Addressing an audience gathered near the tomb of the unknown in Arlington National cemetery, the RCA board chairman said:

"Perhaps beyond any prior generation, ours is called upon to muster the material vitality, the moral fervor, the confident faith and intellectual understanding that will guarantee peace or—should the peace be shattered—will guarantee victory."

Cites Red Buildup
The same theme was voiced by Sec. of the Army Wilber Brucker, speaking at Welch, W. Va. He pointed to a Soviet buildup in ground forces and capability for limited war, and said: "The implied threat of their use is obviously calculated to blackmail the free nations into inaction."

It was the 40th anniversary of the armistice which ended World war I, and the fifth observance of Veterans' day established by congress in 1954.

At Arlington, it was the first observance of the day since unknowns of World war II and Korea were buried adjoining the tomb of the unknown soldier of World war I.

A wreath from President Eisenhower was placed on the tomb by Sumner G. Whittier, administrator of veterans' affairs.

For federal employees and some others, it was a holiday but was not generally a holiday throughout the nation.

Some commodity exchanges closed but major stock exchanges operated as usual.

U. S. and Russia Outline Views on Surprise Attack

Geneva —

The United States and the Soviet Union today defined their views on how the 10-nation conference on surprise attack problems should proceed with its work.

A communique issued at the conclusion of a closed-door meeting said statements were made by the heads of the American and Soviet delegations. The communique gave no indication of a meeting of minds on the subject.

However, the communique defined the conference as one of experts for the study of possible measures which might be helpful in preventing surprise attack and for preparation of a report thereon to governments.

That definition corresponds to the western view of the objectives of this east-west meeting.

GI Pleads Guilty of Killing Jap Student

Urawa, Japan — Airman Peter E. Longpre of Lakewood, Calif., pleaded guilty today of the fatal shooting of a young Japanese student.

Johnson New UN Delegate

Texas Senator to Support U. S. Stand On Space Weapons

Seattle —

The administration's appointment of Senator Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson to the U. S. delegation at the United Nations marks the start today of a new and strongly bipartisan effort to ban military weapons from outer space.

Sec. of State Dulles' took time out from the Colombo plan ministerial conference to announce Johnson's acceptance of the post.

With President Eisenhower's approval, Dulles, said he had asked the Texas senator who heads the senate space and aeronautics committee to make a statement to the U. N. General assembly together with Henry Cabot Lodge, D-Mass., on the outer space issue.

Dulles said Johnson was asked to serve in this role "in order to make clear to the world how much all Americans agree on the importance of this subject."

The Soviet Union also has a resolution before the U. N. on outer space but insists that it cannot give up control unless the United States abandons its foreign bases where long range missiles can be used against them.

UAR Denies Allegations By Hussein

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN

Amman — Jordan today was expected to complain to the United Nations about what King Hussein called an attempt to kill or capture him in a flight over Syria.

The Jordan parliament was called in an emergency session to hear the retaliatory steps promised by the young king. He raced home yesterday with United Arab Republic jet fighters in pursuit two hours after taking off for a vacation in Europe.

(In Damascus, a U. A. R. air force spokesman charged Hussein violated Syrian airspace by not getting clearance to fly over the country. He said the jets could easily have shot down the slow unarmed royal plane.)

"The fact that they did not," he said, "proves that the U. A. R. harbored no aggressive intentions, but that Jordan statements on the incident deliberately distorted the facts."

Hero to People

While the U. A. R. was inclined to play down the incident Hussein emerged as a hero in the eyes of many of his people. Jordanians mixed wild celebrations of joy with bitter demonstrations against the U. A. R.

Relations between the king and President Nasser's U. A. R. worsened just when there were indications the two Arab leaders were about to patch up their feud.

Some officials in Jordan reportedly viewed the incident as an attempt to kidnap the 23-year-old king and force him to sign his abdication. There was no confirmation of this theory, however.

In Damascus, a U. A. R. spokesman said Hussein's pilot "gave no indication it was a royal plane or carrying a

244 Rebels Reported Killed in Battle

Havana — The Cuban army says a 72-hour battle near Santiago caused more rebel deaths than any single engagement since Fidel Castro launched his revolt almost two years ago.

Government troops killed 244 rebels and possibly more while losing six killed and "various wounded," Maj. Gen. Fulgencio Cantillo announced last night. The military commander of the Santiago district added that an accurate check of rebel losses was difficult because they "had a great number of wounded."

Declare Argentine Siege In Effort to End Strike

President Frondizi Sends Security Forces Sweeping Through Capital For Troublemakers, Agitators

Buenos Aires — (U) — President Arturo Frondizi declared a state of siege in Argentina today in a drastic bid to quell an oil workers' strike which he has branded a communist-inspired insurrection. Frondizi's action came as he faced Frondizi mounting danger to his ambitious plan to make Argentina an oil-rich nation with the aid of foreign capital, mainly from U. S. oil companies.

This is the first time Frondizi has taken such drastic action since he took over the presidency May 1. His proclamation suspends constitutional guarantees and gives police sweeping authority to make arrests.

Proxmire Asks 'Self-Help' Dairy Program

Says Subsidies Have Failed to Provide Better Farm Income

Washington — (U) — Sen. William Proxmire called today for a new approach to the farm problem. He suggested self-help programs for dairying, wheat and corn growers. Proxmire, who won reelection by a wide margin to a full 6-year term, said he does not believe the present system of price supports is the answer.

"I think," he said, "that the subsidizing surplus has been discredited by the great cost and the failure to provide adequate farm income."

Asked if he thought the new congress, with heavy Democratic majorities in the senate and house would adopt broad new farm programs such as self-help for individual commodities, Proxmire said he was hopeful it would but didn't want to make any prediction. Proxmire was emphatic in saying he would oppose any price support reductions until some new type of farm program was put into effect. In fact, he said, it might be best as a temporary measure to increase the price support levels.

But in the long run, he said, one cannot expect one segment of the population to pay out billions of dollars each year as subsidies and see farm surpluses pile up in government warehouses.

Proxmire said he would like to see self-help programs inaugurated on individual products such as dairying. Several dairy self-help proposals were before the last congress.

Under these proposals, the dairy farmer would be assessed a certain fee to pay for the operations and production would be limited. No direct government subsidies would be involved.

Former Boxer, Pal Held in Slaying of Store Proprietor

Buffalo, N. Y. — (U) — Two former convicts, one a former heavyweight boxer, were held today in the holdup-slaying of a clothing store proprietor.

Walter T. Green, 34, gave himself up this morning and joined former boxer Henry (Snow) Flakes, 31, in jail.

The two, both Negroes, were charged with first-degree murder in the shooting of Joseph Friedman, 52, at his store in nearby Lackawanna last Friday.

About $300 in cash and some clothing were stolen.

Flakes, a highly rated boxer 10 years ago, was taken into custody Sunday. Police said he signed a statement admitting he took part in the holdup.

In 1948, Flakes won a decision over Pat Comiskey and knocked him out later that year. He also defeated Lee Oma twice.

Predawn Arrests
Security forces swept through the capital and interior cities on a wave of predawn arrests. They were ordered to seize communist, Peronista and nationalist troublemakers, including agitators in labor's ranks.

Early unofficial estimates placed the number arrested at 300.

Oil workers in Mendoza province struck a week ago, paralyzing activities in the oil fields at the foot of the Andes mountains. They are protesting the government's plan to get foreign aid for Argentina's nationalized oil industry.

The costly walkout in Mendoza threatened to become nationwide.

Oil development without foreign help has left Argentina short of oil but many nationalists oppose such help and term it exploitation.

Labor Trouble

The government announced it had taken up its option to postpone for 30 days the signing of an investment agreement with a U.S. group headed by the Atlas corporation. It had been scheduled to be signed tomorrow.

The newspaper Clarin said the group had asked additional guarantees on its investment because of the labor trouble.

Frondizi had threatened to declare a state of siege in Mendoza unless the strike ended. He said Sunday night it was communist inspired.

State of Siege
Frondizi had threatened to declare a state of siege in Mendoza unless the strike ended. He said Sunday night it was communist inspired. After the workers rejected a government truce plan the state of siege was declared on a nationwide basis.

The president wants to end Argentina's precarious economic situation by attracting foreign capital, especially from the United States, not only for oil development but for a vast range of other industries.

Rogelio Frigerio, secretary of economic-social relations and the principal architect of Frondizi's oil program, resigned unexpectedly yesterday. There was no official reason but the newspaper La Nacion speculated it was because Frigerio failed to capture the goodwill of labor.

Oconomowoc Legion Band Manager Since 1924 Dies at Home

Oconomowoc — (U) — Arthur Rhodee, 62, manager of Oconomowoc's American Legion band since its organization in 1924, died at home Monday following a heart attack.

Under Rhodee's management, the band represented Wisconsin at three inaugural parades in Washington, marched in 15 national Legion convention parades and staged numerous concerts at military and veterans' hospitals.

Largely through Rhodee's efforts, the band made plans to parade in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena next January.

Police Say Actor's Wife Unlady-Like

Beverly Hills, Calif. — (U) — Police say actor Sid Cedric Hardwicke's wife, Lady Mary Scott Hardwicke, 30, used unlady-like epithets when they looked her on a drunk-driving charge.

Chief of Police Clinton Anderson said she was abusive, belligerent and uncooperative after her arrest.

Released on bail, she was told to appear in court tomorrow.

Court Ruling

Milwaukee Couple Loses Battle to Adopt Child

Madison — (U) — A middle-aged Milwaukee couple has lost a State Supreme Court decision in a battle to adopt a little girl who once was the couple's foster child.

The child was six days old when she was placed with the couple by the baby's unwed mother. The little girl, now three years old, has been in another foster home since September, 1957, awaiting the outcome of the legal battle.

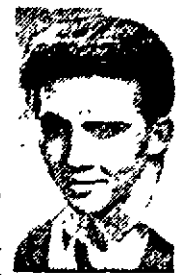

Wisconsin's highest court, in a decision revealed Monday, upheld the Milwaukee County Public Welfare department's appeal of a county judge's ruling in favor of George Peebles, 48, and his wife, 51.

Judge R. J. Mudroch of Milwaukee granted the adoption last spring, declaring that the welfare department, the child's legal guardian, had been "arbitrary and capricious" in refusing consent to the adoption.

Arrest Man Wanted for Embezzling $260,000

25-Year-Old Employee of Canada Bank Nabbed in Denver; Recover $200,000

Denver — (U) — Boyne Lester Johnston, 25, of Ottawa, Canada, wanted for embezzling $260,000 from an Ottawa bank, was arrested at a night club here last night and an estimated $200,000 of the loot was recovered, police said today.

Johnston, an employee of the Imperial Bank of Canada, told Detectives Art Esterling and Gene Ater in an oral statement he took the money because "I wondered what it would be like to have all that money. Now I know."

Reward Circular
Ater and Esterling said when they asked Johnston for his identification at the Chez Paree night club he said he didn't have any. But a check of his wallet showed his proper identification, the detectives said.

A $10,000 reward circular from Ottawa authorities led to Johnston's arrest. It arrived here Nov. 7 and several downtown acquaintances of the police were informed.

Last night one of the persons contacted by Police Technician George Boyles called police and told them a man fitting Johnston's description had been drinking champagne at the club for several hours.

Ater said that after Johnston's identification was established he cooperated and told officers he was staying at the YNCA.

Ater said a suitcase found in Johnston's room was crammed full of bills. "It's practically all Canadian money with just a few American bills," Ater added.

Estimate of the amount recovered was made by Johnston who "guessed" that he had spent about $80,000 in a 16-day splurge in Los Angeles, Twin Falls, Idaho, and here.

Written Statement
The money was placed in a vault and will be counted later today. Officers also hope to obtain a written statement from Johnston when he is questioned further this morning. He was placed in a city jail cell without charge.

Ater quoted Johnston as saying he went from Ottawa to Los Angeles by plane after the embezzlement was discovered Oct. 25. He said he then went to Twin Falls and came here Nov. 3.

Police also recovered an expensive sports car which Johnston said he had purchased here several days ago for $4,150.

"I'm glad it's over, I knew I'd be caught," Johnston told officers as he was led to his cell last night.

Red Guns May Resume Firing On Quemoy

Warning Broadcast By Loudspeakers on Chinese Mainland

Taipei, Formosa — (U) — The communists warned defenders of the Quemoy today that they might resume shelling every day, the Chinese nationalists reported. Red shore guns have been silent for the past four even-numbered days.

The warning broadcast by loudspeakers on the mainland did not make clear whether the supply areas on Quemoy would be shelled on even days. Since Oct. 25 the reds have shelled the supply areas only on odd-numbered days.

Since today was an odd day the nationalists on the offshore islands waited until tomorrow to see what red gunners would do. Nothing was heard from radio Peiping.

No Shelling
Radio Peiping had announced 17 days ago that the landing beaches and airstrip on the Quemoy would not be shelled on even days. It said the remainder of the offshore islands might be shelled on even days, however.

But in practice, communist gunners have been inactive on the last four even days. The loudspeaker announcement could simply mean that areas other than the landing zones would now be bombarded on even days once more.

Or it could mean that the communist alternate-day policy was being abandoned completely in favor of shelling the landing zones daily. Nationalist officials tended to doubt this since Peiping radio had not spoken up.

It was not immediately clear whether the commander of the Fukien coastal area facing the Quemoy was personally responsible for the announcement carried by loudspeakers across the six miles of water separating Amoy from Quemoy.

The nationalists took a wait-and-see attitude.

Gen. Wang Shu-Ming, chief of the nationalist general staff, laughed when asked his reaction to the broadcast. "We'll see what happens tomorrow," he said.

Still Subject Of Discussion

Philadelphia — (U) — They were discussing a 100-gallon still yesterday.

Harry J. Winfield said a friend put it in his cellar without telling him.

"Couldn't you smell it?" asked U.S. District Court Judge C. William Kraft, Jr.

"Yes, I did," replied Winfield, "that's when I got suspicious and started looking around and found it."

Winfield said he threatened to call police, but his friend, Clyde Boyd, promised to remove the still by the weekend.

Federal agents raided the cellar before the weekend.

Judge Kraft's reaction to this explanation was a 6-months suspended sentence, a $250 fine, and three years probation.

Boyd was fined and sent to jail last month.

However the Supreme court said Judge Mudroch had no right to substitute his own opinion for that of the guardian "merely because he disagrees with the guardian's appraisal of the facts."

The welfare department, after a long investigation, gave the Peebles' ages as a reason for refusing consent to adoption.

er identification, the detectives said.

A $10,000 reward circular from Ottawa authorities led to Johnston's arrest. It arrived here Nov. 7 and several downtown acquaintances of the police were informed.

Younger Drivers Ring Up Highest Ratio of Arrests

Madison — (U) — The juvenile motorists' accident-arrest ratio is the highest for any age group despite police efforts to curb the youngsters through more arrests.

Figures from the Wisconsin motor vehicle department show juvenile arrests by state traffic patrolmen have increased sharply in the past 24 years.

"Although the arrest of minors for traffic offenses has increased greatly, the arrest-accident ratio of three mishaps for each arrest is still the highest of any age group," Melvin Larson, the department commissioner, said Monday.

Larson's department found that drivers under 18 years of age were involved in 5,464 reported accidents, including accidents causing 58 fatalities, during 1957. The figures for 1956 were 4,970 accidents, including 60 deaths.

Juvenile driver license suspensions rose from 1,864 in the first six months of 1956 to 2,565 in the same period in 1957 and rose to 3,021 in the first half of 1958.

Veterans Day Speaker Calls For Sacrifice

David Sarnoff Says America Must Rally To Meet Red Threat

Washington — (U) — Brig. Gen. David W. Sarnoff called on the nation today for courage, sacrifice and preparedness to face up to what he called the communist campaign of bluster and blackmail.

"The American cause has become inseparable from the cause of all mankind," he said at Veterans Day services at the tomb of the unknowns in Arlington National cemetery.

The ceremonies marked the first observance of the day since unknowns of World War II and Korea were buried adjoining the tomb of the unknown soldier of World War I. The day marked the 40th anniversary of the world war armistice, and the fifth observance of Veterans Day, established by congress in 1954.

Moral Fervor
Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, recalled the sacrifices made by American fighting men in those wars and added:

"Perhaps beyond any prior generation, ours is called upon to muster the material vitality, the moral fervor, the confident faith and intellectual understanding that will guarantee peace or—should the peace be shattered—will guarantee victory."

The Washington observance was one of many throughout the nation.

Sumner G. Whittier, administrator of veterans' affairs, was picked to represent President Eisenhower in laying a wreath at the unknowns' tomb. John W. Mahan, national commander of the V. F. W., presented another on behalf of all the nation's war veterans.

Veterans' organizations take turns in arranging the Arlington ceremonies, attended by top government and military officials.

Sarnoff cautioned that the nation can no more afford to lose the cold war than to be defeated in a shooting war. "We can freeze to death as well as burn to death," he said.

Unwavering Courage
"Only with unwavering courage can we face up to the communist campaign of bluster and blackmail," he said. "Only with that sort of courage can we meet and defeat the red strategy of nibbling and intimidation."

Calling for preparedness, he said nuclear war is such that the initial blows may be decisive.

There is logic, he said, in the contention that war has become too terrible to be invoked even by communists.

"But the stakes are too high," he added, "to gamble survival on the hope that logic will always control the mind of a fanatic or a madman in a position of unrestrained authority."

Hope Diamond Property of U. S.

Washington — (U) — The Hope diamond, a beautiful gem with a dark past, belonged to the U. S. government today. Officials of the Smithsonian institution hoped to build a national jewel collection, with the 44 carat stone as a nucleus.

A gift of New York gem merchant Harry Winston, the diamond arrived here by registered mail. It was insured for $1 million in transit.

After the dark blue diamond was delivered to the Smithsonian by a postman under guard, it was formally presented by Mrs. Winston.

Her husband was not present. The fabled Hope was accepted by Dr. Leonard Carmichael, secretary of the institution.

The stone was put into a finger Monday in the explosion of a rocket he and six other youths were constructing in a basement.

Colombo Plan Delegates Hear President

Now Face Detail of Making Better Life For Poorer People

Seattle — (U) — Visibly buoyed by a 5-point program for progress handed them by President Eisenhower, 200 delegates to the Colombo plan conference faced today the grim details of bringing about a better life for one third of the human race.

The delegates — Asians in particular — expressed keen appreciation of Eisenhower's attention to detail. They hailed his five specific avenues toward improving living standards among south and southeast Asians as encouraging take off points for some stern work ahead. Spokesmen for the six donor countries, 12 recipient nations and the three colonies, noted these points in their responses to the president's speech:

1. Although progress continued this year in developing the countries which the plan was created to help, the rate of progress slowed generally. How much was not stated. The meetings on the ministerial level are closed.

Time Is Short
2. Implicit in the whole Asian situation is the idea that time is short.

The president himself noted that millions of people went to bed hungry, had never had enough to eat. Pakistan Delegate Mohammed Ali underlined the idea with the warning that "it is futile to talk to hungry nations of economic theories or the blessings of the democratic way of life. . . . In Asia, the peoples see no rhyme nor reason as to why they should remain ill fed and ill clad when God's bounties have been bestowed for all mankind."

The Ceylonese delegate R. S. S. Dunwardene, noted that trade and trade balances have fallen off, partly because of fear of an American depression.

Board Stands by Budget, Won't Make Suggested Cut

Taxpayers Association Asks for Reductions in Face of Rising Rates

The board of education adamantly stood by its proposed $2,243,118 1959 tax levy request Monday night despite a plea by the Appleton Taxpayers association that it peel $100,000 from the tentative levy.

The board contended a reduction could be accomplished only by a reduction in services. The taxpayers' analysis, as presented by Bernard Sullivan, Madison, a researcher with the Public Expenditure survey, suggested that savings be accomplished primarily by cutting personnel costs.

The four board members present decided the proposed $2,671,176 budget and $2,243,018 levy could be pared no further. The board itself trimmed $44,000 from the original budget draft before it was presented to the city council. Last week the council chopped off another $13,000.

Couldn't Begin
"The taxpayers' association has suggested nothing we haven't talked about before," stated Mrs. Dyril Davis.

"I wouldn't know where to begin," said Franklin Jesse.

The taxpayers' organization, of which five members were present, argued public school expenditures represent a 10.6 per cent increase over 1958 and are responsible for about 41 per cent of the possible increase in the over-all tax rate. The group figured the possible rate for '59 at $43.23 per $1,000, or an increase of $5.73 over '58.

"This analysis is not intended to be a criticism of the school board or its administration," Sullivan contended. "Rather it is an attempt to emphasize the need for a minimum school budget and to suggest areas in which reductions are possible."

Salary Level

Since the major increase in proposed expenditures is for salaries — $2,177,328 compared with $1,944,082 for this year, an increase of $233,246, or 12 per cent — the organization suggested:

1. Elimination of 14 new positions for a saving of $19,600 (for September to December, 1959).

2. Elimination of additions to the summer school program for a saving of $9,300.

3. Elimination of salary increases for a saving of $20,000.

Supt. of Schools John P. Mann, who was not present for the Taxpayers association presentation but who examined the analysis his arrival, contended the 14 posts could not be eliminated in the face of rising registrations, that the summer school program is being expanded in the face of increasing demands for such services and elimination of salary increases would take Appleton out of competition with other school systems in the Fox valley area.

Summer Sessions

This year's summer school program will include one band, one orchestra, one typing, one mathematics, one history, one art and two English teachers on the high school level and six remedial reading, one corrective speech, two arithmetic and one elementary typing teacher on the elementary level. In addition, the summer session will be increased from six to nine weeks so a full semester's work can be completed.

Although no salary increases have been committed, the board argued such an increase must be kept in the budget to remain in the running with other schools in the conference.

The Taxpayers' association representatives noted Milwaukee teachers aren't receiving a raise this year and consideration of September increases for Madison teachers is being postponed until the next budget.

Other Suggestions

The Appleton board's position is that Appleton is not in competition with Milwaukee or Madison in the teacher race, but rather with other schools in this area.

In addition, the taxpayers' group recommended a total of about $26,000 could be saved by shaving other expenditures from a proposed 12 per cent increase to a 6 per cent rise. The remaining $25,000 could be saved through the elimination of base salary raises to non-professional employees and if all expenditures showing more than a 6 per cent increase be reduced to a 6 per cent hike.

Board members were unanimous in agreeing to adhere to the present budget.

Man Charged With Selling Mortgaged Auto Wants Attorney

Ambrose J. Lemmers, 38, route 4, Appleton, has asked Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede to appoint an attorney to defend him against a charge of selling mortgaged property.

Lemmers is charged with transferring a 1953 car to Hesser Motors, 419 W. Wisconsin avenue, while another firm held a mortgage on the car.

Bond was set at $350, with a hearing set for Friday.

Electric Power Will be Shut Off

About 500 users of electricity in the Dundas-Hollandtown area will be without electric service for a short time Wednesday while the Wisconsin Power & Light company converts the circuit serving them from 2,400 to 7,200 volts.

The line must be de-energized to protect the safety of ten crews who will be changing 50 pole-top transformers, a company spokesman said. Power will be cut off in the area at 1 o'clock. Service will be restored to some customers within an hour and to all by 4 p.m.

Board Delays Action on School Land

Feels Cheaper Site Might be Available On Northwest Side

Action on an offer of 21.6 acres of land for $85,000 for a northwest side junior high school site was delayed by the board of education Monday night.

Members felt other land might be available in the same general area at a lower price.

Option on the land — west of N. Richmond street and south of Highway 41 — was offered by Joseph Hughes at a cost of about $4,000 per acre. The city requested the board's feeling on the property.

Although all agreed the Hughes land would be an excellent site, members felt cheaper property might be available.

Consult Attorney

The board also decided to consult the city attorney in the matter of the leaking Franklin school roof. Members previously voiced dissatisfaction with it and a meeting will be called with Architect Maurey Lee Allen, the Hoffman Construction company, the Borsche Roofing company, roofing subcontractors, and a representative of the Johns Manville firm.

The board feels the Borsche firm should make some restitution for the leaking roof — the Hoffman company already has offered to absorb part of the expense.

Borsche says the roof was installed according to Johns Manville specifications and, therefore, the firm is not liable.

Golf Course Request

Supt. of Schools John P. Mann was asked to investigate a request by Walter Fox, Madison Junior High school principal, that the school be allowed to use a small section of municipal golf course for organized physical education.

Fox said the Madison grounds won't be completed for some time and asked that the golf course section be used for sports such as soccer and touch football.

Removal of several trees on the Jefferson school grounds was authorized to make way for a softball diamond.

Conway Twitty Hit Still Leads Records

'To Know Him,' 'Tom Dooley' Continue to Hold Top Spots

BY DICK DISC

Conway Twitty's first big record continues in the No. 1 spot once again this week in the Fox valley.

"It's Only Make Believe" has been the top tune for the last three weeks. "To Know Him Is to Love Him" and "Tom Dooley" are in the same two-three positions they held last week. One new record debuts this week. It's the fine ballad by Jimmy Clanton called "Letter to an Angel."

Here are this week's top tunes:

1. "It's Only Make Believe" by Conway Twitty.
2. "To Know Him Is to Love Him" by the Teddy Bears.
3. "Tom Dooley" by the Kingston Trio.
4. "It's All in the Game" by Tommy Edwards.
5. "Lonesome Town" by Ricky Nelson.
6. "Beep Beep" by the Playmates.
7. "Topsy, Part II" by Cozy Cole.

Top tune across the nation is still "It's All in the Game" with "It's Only Make Believe" a close second. New tunes this week include: "Hibiscus" by Jo Stafford. A cute novelty tune with nutty lyrics. Has a good deal of appeal... and it's about time that "Lady Jo" has a big hit. This should be it.

"Philadelphia U. S. A." by the Nu Tornadoes. This is the version that features the fabulous Ferko String band. A bright happy tune with a lot of bounce, this brings back the old days of the string bands. Art Lund also has recorded this number.

"The Teen Commandments" by Paul Anka, Johnny Cash and George Hamilton. A code of 10 points for the good teen of today is sung by the three popular singers. "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer Cha Cha" by Hugo Winterhalter. This could be a big one. It combines the Cha Cha craze with the Christmas season. Done well with no chorus support, it (the tune) adapts itself well to the Cha Cha.

New Albums
In the new album spotlight for this week: "Christmas Sing-Along With Mitch" with Mitch Miller and the Gang. Third album of this series of "Sing Along" albums. This one is geared to the holiday season and contains 13 popular carols sung in the usual "gang" manner. Once again, the words are also included with the album. "Sounds of the Great Bands" by Glen Gray (Stereo). A top album reviving the sounds of bands of the 30's and 40's. Included are tunes by Ray in imitation of Glenn Miller, Artie Shaw and Tommy Dorsey. Same album was released in monaural earlier this year.

Lots of Dough in Pie Plate at This Bakery

Cranston, R. I. — The dough in the pie plate in Solitro's bakery was money.

Pasquale Solitro went to work Sunday, dumped the contents of a wastepaper basket into the incinerator and touched a match to it.

He didn't know that $340 of Saturday's receipts had fallen into the basket.

Solitro collected the charred remains of the money in a pie tin and appealed to the treasury department for fresh currency.

Motorists speeding south along the busy highway were taken unawares by the thick fog bank 20 miles north of San Diego. Moving abruptly from clear weather into the fog they piled up with frightening regularity over a 6-hour period Sunday.

GOP Headed For Defeat in 1960 Election

Party in Power During Economic Stress Is Loser

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — American politics ran true to form last week. As of today, it looks like history will repeat and that the Republicans will get another defeat in 1960, no matter who they nominate for the presidency.

The theory Lawrence advanced is that what happened in the past is of no significance and that "things are different now" has been adduced again and again in discussions of political affairs ever since the founding of the republic. The tragic fact is that the current generation is running true to form in failing to take to heart the lessons of the past. Economic discontent usually wins at the polls, irrespective of party, and in a contest between conservatism and progressivism, neither faction within a party ever extinguishes the other because convictions are staunchly held. The cycles in politics seem to repeat themselves. When William Howard Taft was elected in 1908, he received the second largest number of electoral votes polled by any candidate up to that time. He had the sponsorship of Theodore Roosevelt, the incumbent Republican president, who was known as a "progressive"—the synonym for the present-day "modern" Republican. The first two years of the Taft administration were on the progressive side with one notable exception — his failure to veto a tariff bill which had enraged western Republicans. The "high cost of living" was blamed on the high-tariff policy of the Republicans, and it became the dominant issue in the congressional campaign of 1910. Past Democratic Victory The country was amazed on the day after the congressional election to discover that for the first time in 18 years the Democrats had won a house of congress. Memories of the panic of 1893, which happened under the Democratic administration of Grover Cleveland, had been revived in every campaign to warn the voters that a Democratic victory meant more depressions. But it had worn out as an argument for the Republicans in 1910.

The congressional election of that year, however, didn't heal the wounds of the Republican party—it made them worse. One factor—corresponding to the "modern" Republicans of today—was led by Theodore Roosevelt, who turned on Taft. By 1912 the breach had widened and "T.R." headed a third party of "progressive" Republicans. As a consequence, Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, walked into the White House.

The conservatives didn't have to wait long to see the Democratic administration get into economic trouble. This happened shortly after World War I broke out in 1914. While the Democrats won the presidency by a hair in 1916, our entry into the war in 1917 upset the economy to such an extent that, even before the war ended, the Republicans won the house and senate in the mid-term election of 1918. Then the conservative Republicans came back into power for a period of 12 years. They won by landslides in 1920, 1924 and 1928. They were benefited in 1924 by the existence of a "radical" Republican party under the candidacy of the elder Sen. La Follette of Wisconsin. The cries of "radicalism" and "socialism" and the possibility of La Follette winning the presidency drew many conservative Democrats away from the party nominee, John W. Davis, himself a conservative. That's how Calvin Coolidge won the presidency. Sound Fiscal Program Today the president is trying to hold the conservatives in line with a sound fiscal program, but he is handicapped by the "welfare" boys who go growing and, of course, this more severe than any yet experienced. The Democrats in will be followed by an era of higher and higher prices until to keep the budget unbalanced and maintain "deficit rising cost of living and the reduced purchasing power of the dollar forebode political and economic trouble for the Democrats if they win in 1960. The Republican nomination for the presidency, therefore, that looks most worthwhile is the one that will come up in 1964, when the Democrats would seem to be inevitable and may prove to be more severe than any yet experienced. Whose Farm Policy?

A number of Democrats, including Wisconsin's Sen. Proxmire, interpret the election results as meaning that the nation's farmers are thoroughly disillusioned with the policies of Agriculture Secy. Benson. They believe they have received a "mandate" to change those policies. This has brought a rejoinder from Benson, who points out that he was asked to speak on behalf of Republican candidates in 22 congressional districts and that only four of those 22 were defeated. Thus, Benson says, the election returns do not mean that his policies have been repudiated. He is indirectly supported by President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation who says the returns do not prove anything as far as government price support policy is concerned. The Democrats, in rebuttal, claim that many of the 22 districts cited by Benson have relatively small farm populations. They point out that they took three House seats away from the Republicans in Iowa, two in Kansas and two in Wisconsin. Yet this point too can be answered; in Wisconsin, for instance, the two districts captured by the Democrats are in the southern and southeastern sections of the state and are considerably more industrial than most of the districts which the GOP kept. The Wisconsin district most usually looked to for evidence of farm sentiment is the Seventh, and in that district Republican Rep. Laird won by a bigger majority than ever. True, Laird has not always agreed with Secy. Benson, but presumably if the farmers generally were in revolt against the Republicans Laird's majority at least would have been reduced. In this argument both sides seem to agree on one point — that the success or failure of a government farm program, politically speaking, is measured by the votes of the farmers themselves. Is this necessarily so? Should not the rest of the people — those who live in the cities, for instance, and who consume farm products — have something to say about these policies? Should not "farm policy" take into consideration the needs and problems of the consumers as well as the producers? After all, Benson and his hundreds of aides are paid by the people as a whole, not just by the farmers, and as the farm population continues to shrink in proportion to our total population more and more of the tax load for our generous farm policies is being borne by non-farmers. In this context it is interesting to note that while Democrats on the stump have attacked Benson's policies violently and enthusiastically, the Democratic-controlled Congress has not done very much to change them. The reason, we strongly suspect, is that congressmen from urban areas, both Democrats and Republicans, more and more are feeling the pressure from their constituents to oppose policies that take money out of the city folks' pockets in the form of taxes to shore up farm income and at the same time push up the prices those people must pay for farm products. The day has gone, we think, when farm policy should be considered a matter of concern for farmers only. Like any other policy of government, it should be designed with the welfare of all the people in mind.

There Should be No Polio

The city of Detroit which has suffered considerably from an outbreak of polio is now in the midst of a drive to have every child inoculated. The city has provided the funds to insure that Salk vaccine will be available to all. Those who are able to pay will be asked to give one dollar, but those unable to pay will get the shots free. This special effort is commendable but it is being made in the face of a severe outbreak and is something that should have been done a long time ago. There was little sense in Detroit's waiting until the city was under attack by polio to start this drive. Vaccine has long been available. The shelves have been piled high with it for many months. It is quite inexpensive. Both the city health department and the parents have been negligent in this matter. Some people in Detroit have criticized the city's doctors for opposing free public polio inoculations in the past, claiming that they were more interested in their own fees than in protecting the public. It is rather ironic that people who failed to take the trouble to have themselves and their children inoculated — most of them, undoubtedly, could well afford the fee — should now criticize the doctors for their plight. We agree, however, that the medical profession is not entirely blameless; we have never understood why polio vaccine should not be made available in the same manner as smallpox vaccine, diphtheria shots and other inoculations, in a program under which the schools and doctors cooperate to see that all children are protected except those with religious objections. Yet whatever the merits of this argument there is no excuse for parents who simply don't get around to having their children vaccinated; theirs is certainly the greater negligence. As a result of the epidemic in Detroit hundreds of people have suffered. A great many contracted paralytic polio and some of them will be suffering for years in struggling to overcome the effects of the disease. A great many others lost their lives. The expense of treatment and the care of people who contracted polio was much greater than the campaign to vaccinate all susceptible people but it is the American way that no one can be compelled to accept vaccination except in the face of an epidemic. Thus Detroit has gone on dragging its way through 611 cases of polio and 20 deaths before it brought itself to the point of enforcing vaccination. Since it is obvious that no community is going to have compulsory vaccination, the responsibility for protecting the children rests on the parents. If they are to have the freedom of choice in this matter, which everybody insists upon, then they must take the responsibility for having themselves and their children vaccinated and they cannot evade this responsibility by trying to blame someone else.

Finis Le Guerre

Forty years ago today an armistice ended the shooting in World War I. The Armistice went into effect at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, as all who were about at that time will well remember. World War I did not carry a numeral in its title at that time. It was the only world war anyone knew about and it was believed to be the last world war (this world would ever know. It has been called "the war to make the world safe for democracy" and a "war to end wars" and similar titles all of which were intended to assure the world that the allies were fighting for a permanent peace. The world statesmen told each other and everyone else who would listen that they knew the cause of war and that they had the formula to make war impossible in the future. President Wilson recited his 14 points. In the future we would be guided by "open covenants, openly arrived at," we and our allies were in the war to save the world from the Huns and no one would seek to profit through force, and the boundaries of nations and their form of government would be decided by "self determination."

Thus when the armistice silenced the huge guns which had been thundering across Europe for four years, the Americans who were then holding an important sector on the western front looked forward to a bright, wonderful future. The war was over. There would never be another. No one had any doubt of that. Our allies had agreed. That was why we were in the war! But Wilson proved no match for the sharp diplomats of Great Britain and France. They laughed at his innocence. Wilson lost in Europe and again in America. Many Americans, including some important senators, were furious with the brushoff the European diplomats had given American ideals and they were suspicious of the League of Nations covenant. No entangling alliances, they said. America had won the war but lost the peace. Since then we have had World War II, the Korean struggle and are now settled into an endless cold war which is more expensive in money and materials than either of the hot wars. But it is less costly in lives and limbs. In addition it permits a little time to consider the past 40 years and what might have been.

Plea for Ban On Daylight Saving Time

knocking off daylight saving time when it was just reaching its most valuable stage and turning the whole time schedule upside down, was little short of stupid. Minnesota returned to standard time on Sept. 1, Wisconsin on Sept. 28, and Illinois, or parts of it, are still on daylight time. It would be a tricky quiz program question to ask what time it is in any other part of the country during this period. During World War II President Roosevelt or the congress or somebody else with authority, decreed that there would be national daylight saving time and the whole country went on it and abandoned it together with no pain. We believe in states' rights and take a dim view of asking Washington to do anything more for us, but this is one thing that could be standardized on a federal basis that would make real sense. Let's eliminate this semi-annual frustrating confusion. Keep 'Em on Farm By Sending to School From The Hudson, S. Late Pope Approved, Commended Charitable Works of UNICEF

From The Milwaukee Journal

When teachers of the Milwaukee Catholic archdiocese met in Milwaukee at a mid-September institute one of those who spoke before them was Father John F. Cronin, S.S., assistant director of the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare conference. Father Cronin pointed out that Christians have a worldwide obligation to carry out the second commandment: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," Catholics, he said, could do no better than to follow the example of the Holy See, he said, and added: "Recently we read of a token gift by the Holy Father to UNICEF, the United Nations children's organization. This was no unusual gift for the late Pope Pius XII. He gave constantly to UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund). In addition to gifts, variously $1,000 and $2,000 over a period of years, the pope gave UNICEF a number of special commendations and blessings. Writing to UNICEF, Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini, Vatican pro-secretary of state for ordinary affairs, said in 1953: "His Holiness was much gratified to learn of the beneficent work being accomplished by your organization in the various countries, and he cordially invokes upon your efforts the blessings of Almighty God." Two years later the pope expressed his "continued interest" and sent "every good wish for the success" of the UNICEF program. And, as Father Cronin pointed out to the Catholic teachers, the late pope's interest in UNICEF — and his gifts to it — continued to the present. Pope Pius XII saw nothing wrong in helping feed communist country children along with other needy children of the world. He was interested in children — in mercy and charity. To him the quality of mercy could not be strained by blaming on children the politics of the country in which they happened to live. Others are less charitable than the late pope. They showed it by believing irresponsible attacks on UNICEF and in withholding from it their support in the "trick or treat" UNICEF drive in this area. Catholic readers who may have been confused by the situation will doubtless be interested in the example of the late Holy Father. To say that it is ridiculous for Gov. Thomson to be out hand shaking early in the morning is true. After all, he does have all the newspapers, radio, and television at his disposal. But, for Sen. Editor Post-Crescent: In your editorial of Nov. 6 concerning "The Democratic Sweep," you ask the questions: Was it the recession? Was it a matter of money? Was it a matter of local organization or personalities? I answer no. The American worker, with his present-day education is not ignorant enough to vote for a party, so prejudiced to labor, as to sponsor a so-called "Right-to-work" platform. Townsend Gets Mail Contract

79 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Nov. 15, 1879. Mr. Lot Townsend, the popular and gentlemanly proprietor of the Briggs House, in this city, has been awarded the contract for carrying the mails to and from the different trains and post office. He will see to it that his duty is faithfully performed. We presume that he took the contract at a very low figure, but as he wants to run a bus to his house from the trains, can possibly fulfill at a lower price than others might be able to. 25 YEARS AGO Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1933 Twelve hundred Outagamie county farmers jammed the senior high school auditorium and voted practically unanimously to organize the Outagamie County Farmers' Protective League. The group vociferously placed itself on record as favoring law and order and the peaceful marketing of farm crops. Miss Ethel Boehm, a graduate of the class of 1930 at Appleton High school, was honored as one of the freshmen women at the University of Wisconsin who ranked exceptionally high in standards of work done in preparatory schools and in psychological and aptitude tests given at the university. H. H. Helble, principal of Appleton High school, was named president of the Wisconsin School Music association.

The logs were put in to "corduroy" the road at least 50 years ago. 10 YEARS AGO Tuesday, Nov. 9, 1948 Manley Lee, Appleton, was named to serve in place of Sylvester Esler, supervisor from the Sixth ward, and William A. Ross, was named to serve in place of Emil Court, supervisor from the Third ward, for the November meeting of the county board. Plans for the proposed Jefferson grade school were discussed when the teachers of the school met with Edward Law, architect, and Paul Nystram, engineer, of the Madison architectural firm. The building was to contain classrooms in the middle section; four kindergartens in the right wing and a community center, including gymnasium, auditorium and kitchen and storage space in the left wing. Four Appleton students at the University of Wisconsin were members of the school's 92-piece symphony orchestra. They were Lois Mielke, Lola Mae Boldt, Martha Johnston, and Lois Bayley. Frederick Leech, Neenah, was named vice president of the northern division of the national association of Delta Tau Delta. Mrs. Don Davis was elected president of the Neenah-Menasha provisional League of Women Voters.

Under the Capitol Dome Proxmire's Big Margin Shows He's Entrenched

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Madison — The reelection triumph of Sen. William Proxmire was such as to impress even his most resolute opponent and critic. The fact of his return to the senate in violation of the precedents in local elections is not so surprising as is the size of his margin. It was probably the result of what was a superb personal effort — perhaps one that no other politician in the state now living could duplicate for sheer intensity — and inadequacy in the sense of personal stumping on the part of his opponent, Roland Steinle.

Wyngaard says Proxmire's ambition is one of the best known characteristics of the man. But he has made brassiness pay off. He will be one of the leading men in the senate, with the prestige of his Wisconsin vote of virtually landslide proportions, and in an era when the intellectual left is plainly set to rule in national affairs. He campaigned shrewdly. Although his brief Washington voting record and his associations made it clear that he is one of the advance guard of the liberals of his party, he skillfully played down his national identity on the Wisconsin stump. A part of his strategy might have resulted from a shrewd recognition of what has been the essentially conservative tradition of the state. But a part, in all likelihood, was also attributable to his desire to mesh his campaign with the basic strategy of the state Democratic party and the state ticket. Democrats this year were out to get the attention of new voting blocs. They knew they had the allegiance of organized labor, and of the farmer in most of the state. They needed to win some backing from small businessmen and other middle-class groups, and especially in the smaller cities and villages. The strategy was wonderfully conceived. It worked. Considering its obvious support components, the Democratic party for the moment is in stronger position than any party that has ruled in this state in 20 years.

THE BREAKS Sen. Proxmire also had some breaks. The 1957 upset had a thoroughly democratizing effect upon the Republican party organization. There was a good deal of talk about "uniting" behind Steinle. The plain fact of the matter was, however, that Steinle was the only reasonably adequate candidate available. It wasn't a matter of choosing, but of accepting. It is fairly obvious, moreover, that Steinle for all of his sincerity and conviction, stood considerably to the right of the current tastes of a majority of the voters of Wisconsin. The idea of Steinle as a "unity" candidate, moreover, was dispelled more than six weeks ago when it became evident that the senior Wisconsin Republican officeholder, Sen. Alexander Wiley, had no stomach for getting into the fight at the side of his old friend and on behalf of the party with which he has been associated during his life-time. Had a major Democratic functionary sat out the campaign it would have been a startling situation — with plenty of publicity. Somehow Sen. Wiley brought off his own defection without public comments. His motives can only be guessed. Either he had become convinced that the fight was futile and didn't want to alienate liberal voters whom he has cultivated in recent years, or he had concluded that he preferred Proxmire as a seat-mate and colleague in Washington to the nominee of his own party.

Evacuation Plans Pose Problems—Most Unsolved

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What would happen if a civil defense emergency happened tomorrow? What if an evacuation of target areas was ordered?

Accompanying this article is a map of how the state has been divided for civil defense purposes. Target areas are probable bomb targets, reception counties are those which will receive evacuees from target areas, and support areas are those which will provide food and manpower and accept evacuees if necessary.

It's probable that the confusion and lack of planning previously outlined in Outagamie county would be common to most counties with two exceptions. The civil defense organizations in Milwaukee and Brown counties are outstanding. However, both are target areas and the real strain and responsibilities for caring for the state's people fall upon the reception counties.

For example, Calumet and Winnebago counties are in the southeast reception area and both are slated to receive evacuees from the Milwaukee target area. In both cases, the number of anticipated evacuees outnumbers the total population of the counties.

No Plans for Anything

And there are no plans in either county or where to put these people, how to feed them or anything else.

The state survival plan, which remains in the rewriting stage with no area directors appointed — assumes, among a great many other things, that people fleeing north from the Milwaukee target area will stop (or be stopped) at the Outagamie-Winnebago-Calumet county lines. Just as it assumes the Green Bay evacuees fleeing south will stop at the same lines.

The plan assumes that a primarily rural county—Calumet—with its population of about 20,600, will absorb and care for nearly 49,000 persons, probably without assistance from Appleton, which is in another reception area—the northeast. The state assumes that Neenah-Menasha, with a combined population of about 37,000, will be able to take care of 33,000 persons, probably without assistance from Appleton.

No Single Unit

Rather than considering the Lake Winnebago-Fox river valley as a single, interdependent unit, the state plan breaks the area into two zones.

This is done, state officials have said, because it is easier administratively to locate the reception areas according to county lines.

What about Outagamie county, with the control center for the northeast reception area at Appleton?

In the civil defense test

This is the second in a series of eight articles on civil defense in the Fox river valley. Outagamie county is used as an example of the state of civil defense, but the same is true of most of the state's 71 counties. Only exceptions are Brown county and the six counties around Milwaukee.

exercises, county civil defense officials each year have reported that they could care for 31,000 persons from the Green Bay target area. In saying this, County Coordinator Andrew J. Schiltz has reported that 18,000 are allotted Appleton, 5,000 to Kimberly and 8,000 to Kaukauna.

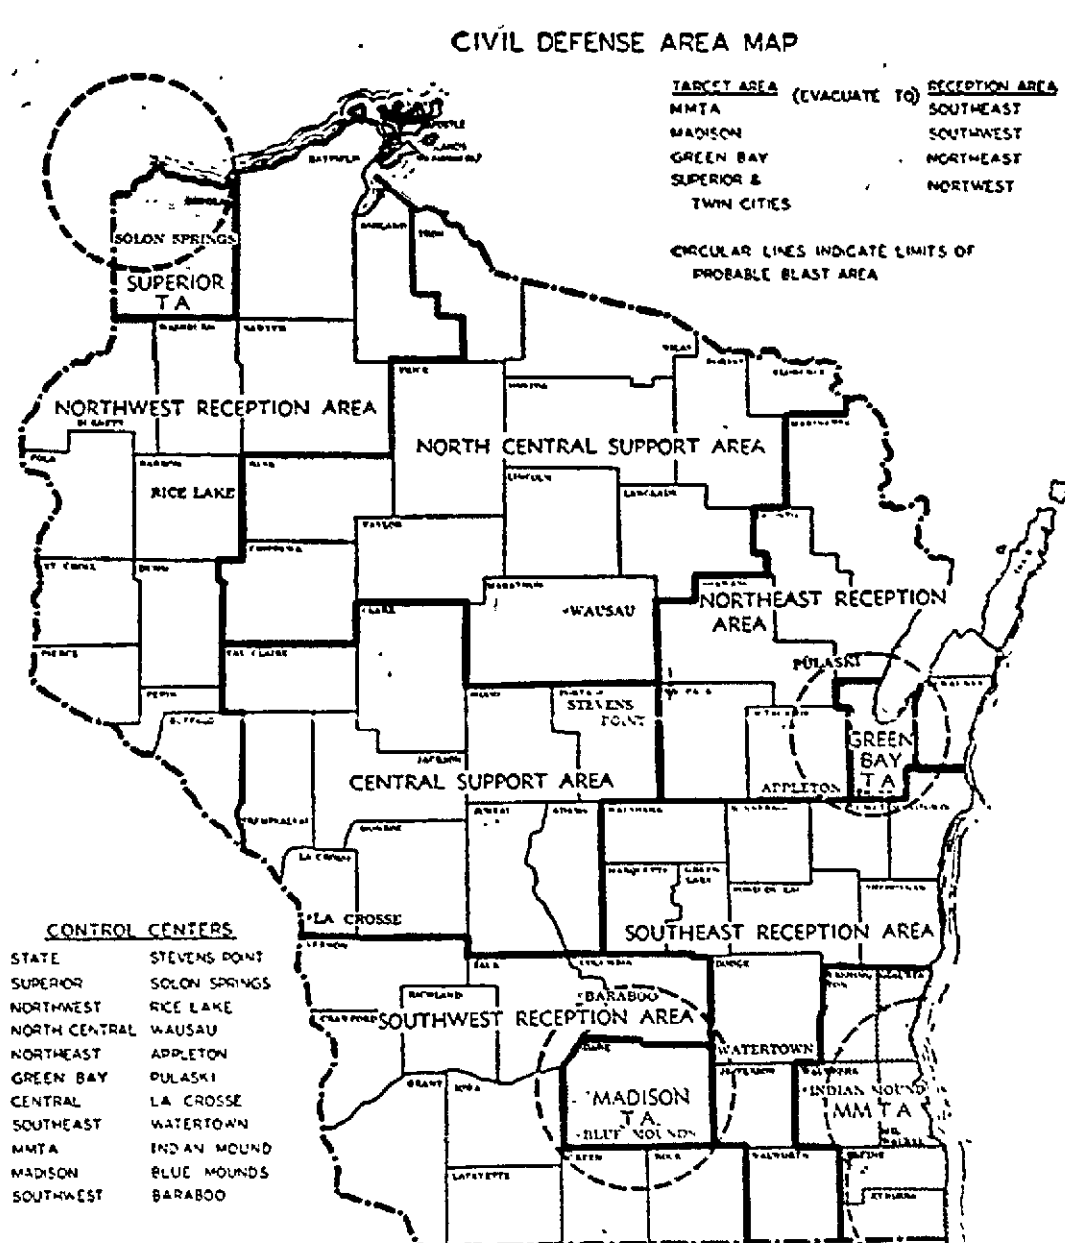

And where are these people to stay?

No one seems to know. The reports are made without the slightest evidence of planning or surveying housing facilities.

Pour Into Appleton

However, consider for a moment 18,000 people descending upon Appleton in a relatively brief time span (the state's time table contemplates total evacuation of the Green Bay target area in five hours.) These 18,000 people will pour into Appleton from the east and north.

Present civil defense thinking in Appleton houses these people in schools, churches and other public buildings.

This is how Civil Defense planning under the state survival plan divides the state into target, survival and support areas. The Fox river valley is split into the Green Bay target area, the northeast reception area and the southeast reception area. Green Bay will send about 31,000 people into Outagamie county. Milwaukee will send more than 129,000 into Winnebago county. Little planning has been done in either county to receive these people.

Some simple computations: length of time. Cooking and would tend to indicate 18,000 feeding facilities would be people wouldn't fit into these woefully inadequate facilities, much less live in Appleton Director Robert Beltrone has been surveying the resources of Appleton for the last few months. He's had some nasty shocks, most of which have upset his previous reports that he could care for 18,000 persons.

For instance, Beltrone found that the cooking facilities of Appleton's 16 public schools could feed just under 3,000 people. Beltrone, coming up against the concrete problem of what to do with 18,000 people, says he'll not report so readily on what Appleton can do during the next civil defense exercise.

Sanitary facilities, which must be considered in handling masses of people, undoubtedly are inadequate in public buildings.

No Health Officer

But, there is no county health officer in the civil defense structure who can plan for sanitary facilities, garbage and refuse collection and the like.

The county welfare department chief—Alfred Eggert—is by state law the civil defense emergency welfare director. He has received state manuals on his duties, but has not had a regular series of meetings with Schiltz.

Eggert says his responsibilities include providing food and financial assistance to evacuees. However, under the state plan he is not only responsible for those duties, but for clothing, records and inquiry, institutional service (county hospitals and homes and private welfare services) and family rehabilitation. Schiltz and Eggert have not discussed this in detail. There is no evidence that anyone in Outagamie county knows where evacuees could be housed and fed.

Route Around City

Brown county officials know about this state of affairs in Outagamie county and say they would endeavor to route their evacuees west of Appleton in an attempt to spread them thinner, since it is a mass of people which causes the most difficulties.

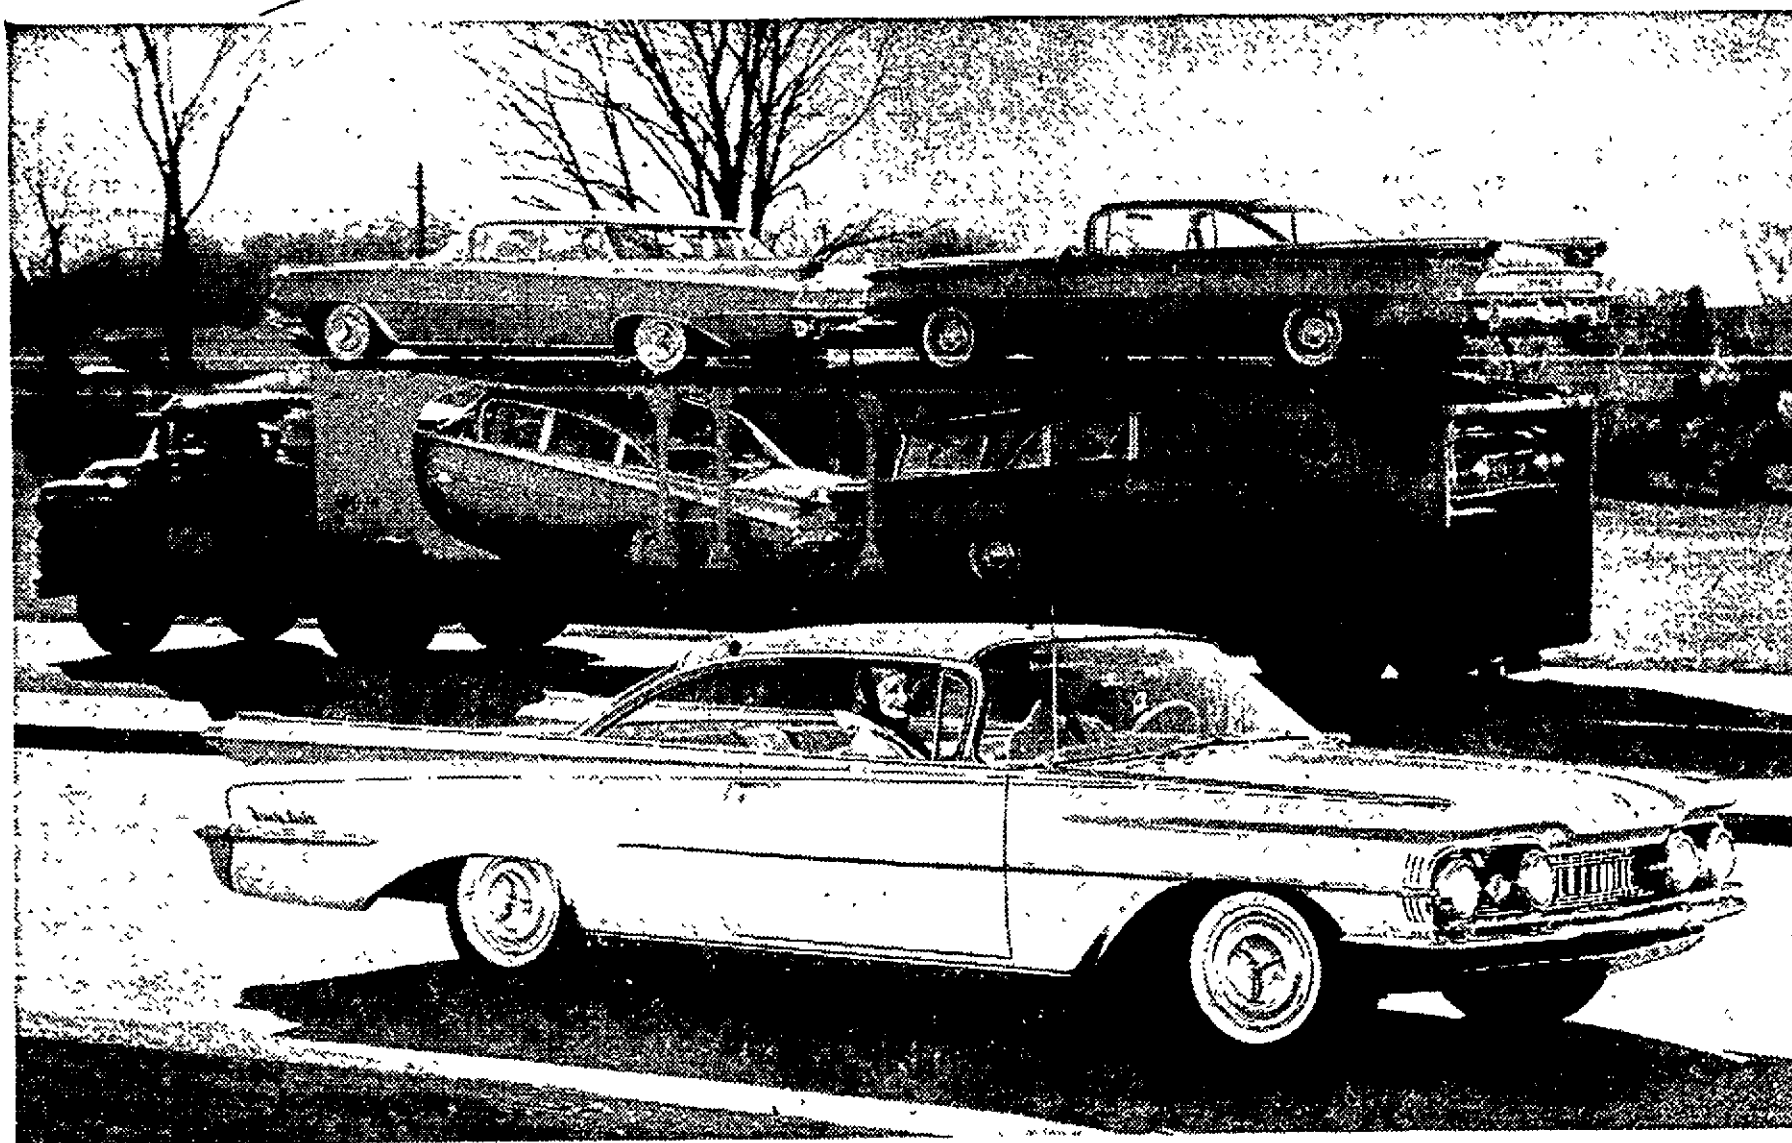

Outagamie county under the state plan should have plans for setting up 32 welfare centers. It has no plans for any. As a matter of fact, no one really seems to know what a welfare center is.

The state survival plan clearly outlines a welfare center—even to the point of a drawing showing one way to utilize a city block in setting up the divisions in homes, public buildings and businesses to care for evacuees.

In most divisions of the state's civil defense survival plan, not even an appointment has been made in Outagamie county. On the 20 basic civil defense divisions, Outagamie county has directors for five—four of them named by civil defense legislation.

In the light of the Outagamie county board executive committee's order to Schiltz to formulate a civil defense plan last May, it would seem the county is making little progress toward dealing with any emergency, civil defense or otherwise.

Country's Long-Range Strength Dependent on Education Values

BY DR. DOUGLAS KNIGHT
President, Lawrence College

Much has been thought, said, and written during this past year about America's position in a world power struggle with Russia. We have come to see the value of our educational system in that struggle as we have never seen it before. Precisely because we have been so concerned, however, we may have defined our problem (and our opportunity) too narrowly.

We have recognized that we must meet a major challenge in the sciences — or, to put it more precisely, in the technological use of the sciences. As congress and the country first thought of this job last year, it seemed to involve numbers of trained men above all.

There was even the hope that by passing some appropriate bill we could provide an effective counter to Russia's obvious technological power. In the intervening months, however, we have seen that our real concern is with the long-range strength of the whole country, not with the crisis posed by one or two immediate events.

When we speak of the long future, we must recognize three national needs which only first rate education can meet. The first of these is constant work, of the highest and most creative sort, in mathematics and the sciences. Our achievement there depends not primarily on numbers but on individual achievement. We must reach numbers of advanced students with the results of great achievement, but we must have the achievement first.

Many fields. We must have a similar achievement in many other fields which are just as crucial to our future as the sciences, though we have not given them the equal publicity which they deserve. The study of foreign cultures and languages, the understanding that our future cannot be separated from that of Europe, Latin America, the Orient, as well as the recognition that only as we work effectively with other countries do we have any security ourselves—upon these kinds of understanding a great deal of the future depends.

Our survival is not just a matter of our power-relationship with one hostile country, but of our human relationship with a dozen uncommitted countries.

The third national good which education can serve is in a sense the base for both these achievements. We cannot have deeply effective ideas in our society unless society believes in the value of ideas. We must help education as it tries to create the climate in which ideas can grow, recognizing that we cannot influence the civilization of the rest of the world unless we are civilized ourselves.

We live in a world where force seems to be necessary; but force is only a small part of influence. What we need for true survival is a recognition

Little Rock Board Ordered to Act for School Integration

St. Louis — The U. S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals directed Monday that the Little Rock, Ark., school board take affirmative steps to accomplish integration as previously ordered by the courts.

The 3-judge court vacated an order by Arkansas Federal District Judge John E. Miller, who dismissed an application for an injunction against the school board.

The case was remanded to Judge Miller's court. Judge Miller was directed to enjoin the school board from taking any further steps or action without the approval of the district court to transfer possession, control or operation, whether directly or indirectly, or any of the senior high schools, or any other property for operation of segregated schools.

The appeals court directed that the school board be enjoined "also from engaging in any other acts whether independently or in participation with any one else, which are capable of serving to impede, thwart, or frustrate the execution of the integration plan mandated against them."

Reds Respect U. S. As Military Power

Russia Thinks West May Resort To Heat if It Loses Cold War

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

The reader who has followed the story to this point will surely be asking himself, as I did ask myself during the interview, whether Mr. K. seriously believed the United States was contemplating a war against the Soviet Union.

For while his Lippmann attitude towards West Germany and towards Turkey was threatening, it was also clear that he was not thinking of attacking them first with his military forces.

It was clear to me because I could detect no doubt in his mind that the United States would intervene and no doubt at all that he regards the United States as a military power to be treated with the utmost respect. His talk about what he could do to Germany and to Turkey, and indeed to England, France and Spain as well, was meant, to put it in military terms, as the threat of an offensive-defensive in case the Soviet Union was attacked by NATO.

This is the second in a series of four articles written after a recent visit to Moscow.

What, then, makes him think the NATO powers might attack the Soviet Union? His answer, if I may put it in my own words, is that if the United States finds it is going to lose the cold war, it is likely to resort to a hot war.

Communist Danger

Communism, he said, is indeed a great danger to us as an ideology and as a doctrine, but it is not a danger to us as a military policy of the Soviet government. The communists do not want to shed their blood or the blood of others to extend their frontiers. And each country should defend itself against communism within its borders, if it sees fit to matically that socialist states will not and do not go to war. Mr. K. had a different line of argument. It is that in a socialist society there is no economic limit on productivity—as there is in the case of our farm surpluses, which amused him considerably. China, he said, had only begun to explore and to exploit its natural resources. There were in the north of China vast reserves of virgin land which could support a very much larger population.

Finally, I must tell about what Mr. K. had to say on the subject of disarmament. He came to it before some of the passages which I had already reported, but it has seemed to me less confusing to the reader if I left it to the end. He had been talking about Turkey and asserting that our military policy in the Middle East was based on ignorance of the real military situation, especially upon the idea, which he attributed specifically to Gen. Norstad, that NATO could go to the aid of Turkey in the sense of landing forces there in time of war.

Once again, he was referring, of course, to the command of the short range missiles, and this led him on to say that all talk about international inspection and control of missiles was "ridiculous."

Then he paused to say the Soviet Union had always believed it was possible to detect nuclear explosions, and that it was in principle agreed to work out a system of detection. At this point he turned to me and asked, did I have any suggestions as to how Soviet-American relations could be improved?

May Plan

To this I replied that while there could be no solid improvement until and unless solutions were agreed to about Germany, the Middle East and Eastern Asia, a success at the coming conference on surprise attack would probably do more than anything else that was possible to relax the tension in America. I reminded him that Pearl Harbor had had a profound and lasting effect on the minds and feelings of Americans.

He replied that he understood this. But the psychosis—that was the word used in the translation—is being kept up by American militarists so as to promote the manufacture of new weapons, and thus to make profits.

This American psychosis, he continued, is kept up because Dulles and the militarists would not otherwise get their appropriations from congress. Like a snake with a rabbit the American people are so scared that they give the military all the money they want.

Against this background he returned to the question of inspection and control in relation, not to nuclear explosions but to surprise attack and the reduction of armaments. Why, he asked, do you begin with inspection and controls. Why begin by taking seriously our offer of a treaty of friendship and non-aggression? I said we wanted some tangible evidence that an agreement would be carried out.

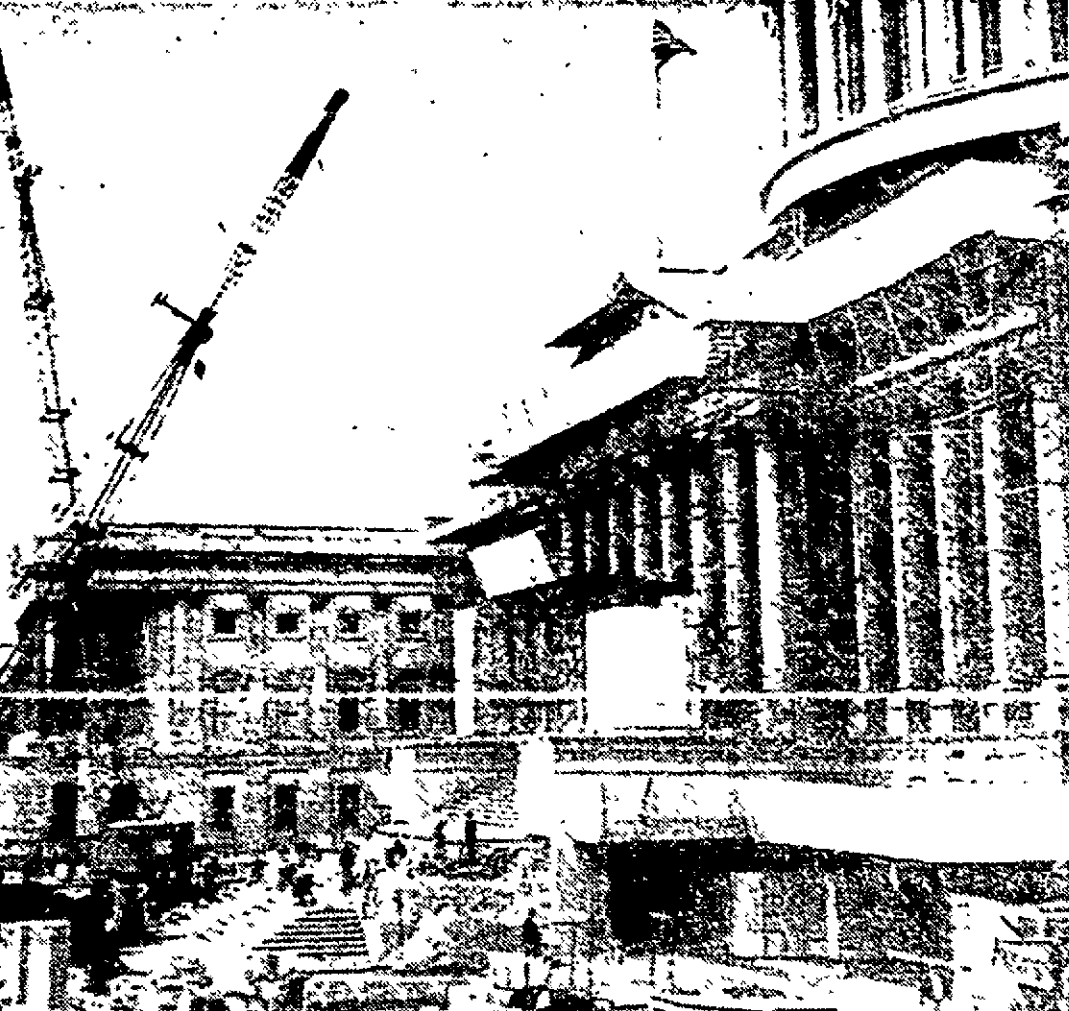

He replied that the Soviet Union could not agree to inspection and control until confidence, which is now lacking, has been established. You want control first, he said, we want confidence first.

Never Hurts

I asked him then whether the treaty of friendship should come before a settlement of the German question. His answer was that the treaty is a question of good will and that this never hurts a negotiation of other issues.

This concludes my report of the interview with Mr. K. I must remind the reader that it is not based on a transcript but on my memory and on the notes taken by my wife and myself. It covers all the topics discussed in the interview, and I have adhered as strictly as I can to the rules of the journalistic profession which call for a report and interpretation of what Mr. K. said, unadulterated by my own opinions.

In the two succeeding articles, I shall set down some Workmen Dismantle the Center steps of the capitol in Washington as part of an extensive rebuilding program that will move the east front of the building forward about 32 feet. As each stone is removed, it is numbered so that it can be put back in its proper place in the new location.

reach the top of the hill and not be pulled back down.

The earth's gravity pull gets weaker and weaker the farther you go away from the earth and for practical purposes the rocket can escape from any real influence of terrestrial gravity.

Sun's Gravity Control

The rocket would speed up when it fell under the influence of the sun's gravity and take up its orbit around the sun.

This is presuming it doesn't hit the moon, even if aimed directly for it.

Blitting the moon without guidance control inside the probe would be fantastically difficult. That is partly why Von Braun gives it a one in two chance of escaping to become a planet.

Army experts indicated

they would not be unhappy if the probe did hit the moon. It will be sterilized to prevent contaminating the moon with earthly germs if that did happen.

The probe will carry instruments to report particularly on the mysterious band of radiation recently discovered high above the earth. It is designed to give full reports on how far this radiation extends. It will radio or tele-meter the information back to earth.

Dr. Von Braun predicted a

"one in three chance the tele-metering will give useful information all the way to the moon."

The reports might be received weakly but usefully from nearly one million miles from earth. The probe's instruments will weigh about 15 pounds and the rocket case another 15.

The Russians could be first actually to hit the moon.

Experts here said the rockets that launched Sputnik 3 were powerful enough to launch a moon probe equipped with photo-electric eye or other guidance to steer it automatically into the moon.

afforded those who convert ordinary income to capital gains, allowance for depletion of natural resources like oil and coal, special rules favoring income of insurance companies, and the favorable tax treatment accorded farm and other cooperatives.

Would Reverse Stand

Wholesale elimination of tax preferences — some of them in the law 30 years or more — would be certain to stir up a political hornet's nest.

It would be a reversal of a congressional practice which for years has been to add exemptions, preferences and loopholes to the tax laws to satisfy the demands of special individual and business interests.

Now, however, influential Democrats say enactment of a loophole-plugging bill is a distinct possibility — even a probability — in the new congress. It would be a 2-year program calling for house passage the first session and final senate action in 1960.

Its impact would be widespread if it materialized to the extent it is now being considered.

Major Proposals

Among other things, it would mean elimination or reduction of the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance granted oil companies, elimination of tax credits now enjoyed by foreign oil - producing companies, revision of tax exemptions now allowed cooperatives, restrictions on the use of capital gains to avoid ordinary income taxes, and possibly repeal of the dividend income credit for individual taxpayers.

Next Monday the ways and means committee makes a beginning on these problems by going into methods of taxing life insurance companies. Under the present stopgap law, these companies now pay taxes on only 15 per cent of their investment income and none on their premium income.

Further in this direction, the treasury is expected to recommend another increase in the federal gasoline tax and possibly other highway user excises to meet increased costs of building the interstate highway system.

The ways and means committee is expected to give this problem early consideration. Highway user taxes now go into a special trust fund to finance highway construction.

Brucker Says Soviets Seek To Blackmail

Welch, W. Va. — See of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said today that the aim of Russia's build-up in capability for limited war is blackmail.

In an address prepared for a Veterans day ceremony here, Brucker said Russian propagandists insist that any local war inevitably would expand to worldwide proportions. Then he added:

"Yet concurrently the Soviets have strengthened their own capabilities for limited war. The Soviet bloc has more than eight million men under arms. The Soviet Union has some 500 submarines and 25,000 operational aircraft.

"Soviet ground forces have been completely reorganized and re-equipped since World War II, and great improvements have been made in their mobility, their firepower, and their communications."

"The implied threat of their use is obviously calculated to blackmail the free nations into inaction. Its effects are reinforced to the degree that the free world is unprepared to meet a limited challenge with other than an all-out response."

"The free world's massive deterrent to all-out nuclear war may not deter limited or disguised aggression. Local wars, fomented civil strife, military intimidation, and similar forms of limited operations are all down in the Soviet book as very practical methods by which they might achieve their ultimate purpose without ever seriously risking our use of the nuclear retaliatory power at our command."

A national holiday was declared throughout Jordan to celebrate the escape of the 23-year-old king. Crowds surged through the narrow streets of fire at the Jordanian plane all Amman last night, firing the way back.

Immediately after his return Hussein accused the Syrian pilots of violating international law by intruding in Jordanian air space.

The charge was made in a broadcast to Jordan's 1,500,000 people, many of whom are current of bitterness against Nasser rather than Hussein. Some Cairo radio has called in groups paraded through Amman the past for Hussein's assassination chanting, "Down with the U.A.R." and "war with Syria."

A special session of parliament was delayed until after the noon Premier Samir Rifai was expected to announce to maintain Jordan's prestige parliament a decision to take and dignity. He did not the case to the United Nations.

Violinist Toshiya Eto To Play Sonata Program During Artists Series

Three sonatas of the 18th and 19th century will form the principal part of the program to be given by Toshiya Eto, young Japanese violinist who will appear on the Lawrence community artist series at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in Memorial chapel. The Tardini sonata, known as the "Devil's Trill," was written by one of the greatest masters of violin technique the world has ever known. The Paduan violinist, who lived from 1692 to 1770, was working in a monastery at Assisi when he dreamed the devil played for him. The sonata was his attempt to reproduce the dream. Beethoven's Kreutzer sonata, which also will be heard, has an unusual history. One musical biographer has written: "There lived in Vienna at this time a curious mulatto English violin player named Bridgetower. He was exceedingly anxious to become better known with the circles that admired Beethoven so he engaged the composer to write a sonata for their joint performance. Beethoven, who always disliked any works written to order, barely finished the composition in time. "It is said the piano part was almost a blank, with only an indication of notes here and there. The variations were completed so late that Bridgetower had to play from the autographed manuscript." Under the circumstances, one can hardly blame Bridgetower for quarreling with the composer, and Beethoven refused to dedicate the work to him. Later, Beethoven dedicated it to Rudolph Kreutzer, who had come to Vienna with Gen. Bernadotte. Kreutzer had been a violinist of some prominence in Paris, having won the favor of Marie Antoinette and later of Napoleon. It is thought that Kreutzer never played the work. "The sonata attained great notoriety because of the Tolstoy novel which bears its name. Eto's complete program follows: Sonata in G minor (Devil's Trill) Giuseppe Tardini Larghetto affettuoso Allegro Allegro assai Grave Sonata No. 9 in A Major (Kreutzer) Ludwig van Beethoven Adagio sostenuto—Presto Andante con variazione Finale (Presto) Intermission Sonata in G Minor Claude Debussy Allegro vivo Intermède (Fantasque et léger) Finale (Tres anime) Improromptu Tor Aulin La Fontaine d'Arthuse Karol Szymanowski

Carmen Fantasy Bizet-Sarasate

Accompanist will be Reiko Eto. Tickets are at Bellings and will be available at the door on the night of the performance.

Stranger Need Not be Invited in

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day a woman representative of our church (a complete stranger to me) called at our house soliciting pledges for a new school building fund. I talked with her for about 10 minutes at the door. When she left I returned to the living room where my husband was seated. When he asked me who it was I told him and he proceeded to tell me how discourteous I was for not asking her to come in?

Answer: You were not rude in not inviting a complete stranger into your living room.

Wedding Details

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon and the groom, best man and ushers are going to wear blue suits. My daughter insists that her father has to wear a blue suit too. My husband would never wear a blue suit after the wedding and I feel it is just one more extra expense to get something which will not again be worn. Would not a dark gray suit be acceptable for him? Also, is it always necessary to have a wine to toast the bride and groom at the reception, or would it be permissible to use a fruit juice?

Answer: He may wear a dark gray suit. I doubt that in the light of the church, it will be noticed that his suit is gray. I would suggest ginger ale for the toast as it will look more festive in the glass than fruit juice.

Naming a Child

Dear Mrs. Post: When one wishes to name a child for someone, is it necessary to ask the person's permission to use his (or her) name before doing so?

Answer: If you use only the person's first name you need not ask for permission, but if you wish to name your son Henry Clark Smith, you must ask Henry Clark if you may do so.

Your Problems

Air Force Boy Better Bail Out—Has His Dream Girls Mixed Up

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm 17 and a high school senior. Yesterday I received a letter from my boy friend who is in the air force. The letter started "Dear Ruth." My name is Eleanor. The letter contained proof that Ruth is more than just a "Dear Ruth" friend. He referred to "mint-flavored kisses, kitten-soft hands and magic embraces. He spent a lot more time on that letter than on any letter he ever wrote to me. It was neatly typed with no mistakes. My letters from him are always so messy I have trouble reading them.

I went steady with this fellow all last year. We talked about marriage when he gets out of the service. If I hadn't seen this with my own eyes I'd never believe it. What shall I do? Is it best to continue to write and pretend I know nothing of Ruth. Or shall I cut him cold and let him sweat?—E.K.

Send your former boy friend the "Dear Ruth" and enclose a "Dear John." Make it plain you're removing yourself from the picture so he can devote himself exclusively to literary gems for Ruth, who obviously means a great deal to him.

The odds are good that since you got a "Dear Ruth" she received a "Dear Eleanor." This means a lash-up on both fronts which could result in a 2-way calamity—for him. You said he's in the air force? Let's hope they keep him out of the control tower!

DEAR ANN: I've been married to this man for 17 years. He reads your column every day and applauds loudly your common sense and outspoken manner of getting to the heart of things.

The thing that gets me this: Although many letters hit him right on the beeper he never recognizes himself as the philanderer, the jerk, the inconsiderate, self-centered guy that he is.

I've put up with his running around, tolerated his insulting family, rubbed his pounding head (hang-over), scratched his back, kept a clean house, cooked good meals and raised his children without complaint. Why do I stick? Because marriage means forever as far as I'm concerned. I wonder how many other women feel as I do when their husbands say to them "Honey, look at this in Ann's column today. Isn't it rich?" I wonder how often they feel like saying "Look, you big stiff, that guy is just like you, why don't you read the advice?"—R.M.

DEAR ANN: Often I read letters in your column from young women who would like to be independent of their aging mothers but can't get loose. My problem is the opposite. I'm a mother in my late 60's who wants to know

Hospital Patients Go to Their Heads

Stamford, Conn. —(AP)—Stamford hospital reports it had a "heads up" weekend recently. Of the cases of youngsters admitted:

One hit his own head with a hammer. Another hit his head on a metal frame. A third had a toy fire engine fall on his head. A forehead was cut on a venetian blind and an insect stung still another head. Also among the 26 cases reported were several hit on the head by sticks and falls.

how to get my daughter to see that she's wasting her life staying at home with me. My daughter is an attractive, bright girl of 43. She has a fine position and makes an excellent salary. She takes lovely winter vacations alone, but never meets anyone. A gentleman has been taking her out since 1939. He claims he can't marry as long as his mother is living because he's responsible for her support. This man is lousy with money and it doesn't make sense to me.

I keep telling my daughter she's a fool to waste her time but she continues to see him exclusively. How can I get her to make a life for herself before it's too late?—JUNE BUG

Dear June: Don't feel guilty. The real problem isn't her attachment to you. Mother, she's been wasting her years on an impossible situation and has cut herself off from other prospects.

These men who use their mamas as an excuse are for the birds—the loons, that is. I hope your daughter wakes up before she's too old and tired to smell the orange blossoms.

Leona Gage, 22, Maryland beauty who wore the crown of Miss U.S.A. for one day last year, and Nick Covacevich, 22, a dancer, have revealed wedding plans. Miss U.S.A. for a Day Says She'll Wed Third Time

Hollywood — (AP)—Leona Gage, who lost her Miss U.S.A. title when officials found she was married, plans to wed for the third time.

Miss Gage, 22, now a show girl at the Moulin Rouge night club here, said she will marry Nick Covacevich, 22, next Monday in Las Vegas, Nev. Covacevich also dances at the club.

The statuesque brunette won the Miss U.S.A. title as Miss Maryland in the 1957 Miss Universe contest. She was deposed when she said she was married to air force Sgt. Gene Norris Ennis and was the mother of two sons. Later, she said she had married another airman when she was 14, but the marriage was annulled after one day.

Miss Gage divorced Ennis last February in Las Vegas.

Quilted Slipcover Changes Style of Chair

A dining room today can be as elegant as you please, whether it's confined to close quarters or spreads out to be an impressively large space. Furniture is designed with the same flair and fine detail to go in a small room as it is for a big room, and even the hand-somest tall cabinets come narrow as well as wide.

The style of the furniture sketched is called Italian Classic. Both the large and the smaller cabinet are in beautifully figured French walnut, with burl and fruitwood inlays, and interior lighting plays up the treasures to be seen through glass doors. Both tables combine the walnut and antique white trimmed with gold, and the chairs are matching white and gold. Design is the more beautiful for the differences which suit the two sizes, rather than an adapting of the same design. A wide range of room measurements can be fitted—the length of the smaller cabinet is just half the length of the larger. (John Widdicombe)

UW Varsity Reserves Whip Freshmen, but Bakken Stands Out

Madison QB Proves Shifty; Frosh Line Is One of Biggest in Years

BY ROGER BLOBAUM Madison — Coach Milt Bruhn is expected to pin "hold for spring practice" tags on quarterback Jim Bakken of Madison and several other football freshmen he saw in action at the annual public showing of the Badger frosh Monday night.

The reserves held the freshmen to one touchdown and a safety as they won, 29-8, at Breese Stevens field. Gil Blackmun, a senior quarterback letterman, scored one TD and passed to Allan Schoonover, a junior, for another. Tony Anthony, a third string fullback, scored the other two for the victors.

Jacoby's 1st Year This year was the first as freshman coach for Fred Jacoby, formerly head football coach at Madison West.

Bruhn was on the lookout for a speedy breakaway back who could put some striking power into Wisconsin's attack next fall. The closest thing appeared to be Erv Kunesch of Marinette, who broke into the open for a 43-yard gain.

Bakken, a shifty runner, ripped off the longest runs, including an 80-yard return of an intercepted pass. The former Madison West star consistently hit his mark with good passing and refused to be rattled when rushed.

The frosh line was one of the biggest in several years. One of the standouts was Barry Armstrong, a 226-pound tackle from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Another was Don Schade, Chicago, a 196-pound left guard.

Good linemen will be well-come next year because of departing seniors. Graduation will end the college career of varsity first string guard Jim Fraser, second team guard George Chryst, and third string guard and kicking artist Paul Schwaiko. It will also take second string tackle Charlie Sprague.

At end, where Bruhn loses both his starters, he has some potential in Bob Copley, Portsmouth, Ohio. Copley caught several passes from Bakken and from Ron Staley of Madison. Earl Hill and Dave Kourek, Bruhn's first team ends this fall, play their last college game Nov. 22 against Minnesota.

Six Badgers Turn Up With Injuries Madison — Coach Milt Bruhn gave his football regulars a rest Monday so they could nurse minor bumps received in the victory over Northwestern last week.

The Badgers generally came out of the Wildcat game in the most battered shape of the season, but trainer Walt Bakke predicted all should be available at Illinois Saturday.

Jerry Stalcup, Jim Fraser, Danny Lanphear, Ron Perkins, Sid Williams and Bob Altman turned up with injuries which may handicap their drills early in the week.

Bruhn explained, "Most of them are aggravations of minor pesky ones they had before. They have just developed from little things."

BY JOHN PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The sportswriting segment of the Fourth Estate could have used a sixth sense when "handicapping" the 1958-9 Fox River Valley conference basketball race.

But, unfortunately the FRV Sportswriters association had only the standard equipment and rather meager early-practice information with which to pierce the fog of uncertainty surrounding the imminent season.

The predictions—which saw no fewer than four of the eight teams commanding first place votes—either presage the widest-open basketball chase in years or simply reflect journalistic perplexity.

Four Categories After the myriad opinions had been sifted and considered, the scribes produced a vote that grouped the candidates into roughly four categories:

Co-favorites: Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

Co-darkhorses: Sheboygan Central and Appleton.

Group 3: Manitowoc, Sheboygan North and Green Bay West to battle for top of second division and chance to enter upper echelon.

Collar: Green Bay East. Far From Unanimity

Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, each boasting six lettermen and the two highest "returning point totals," are figured to have the potential to go all the way after finishing last season in a tie for sixth. Actually, though, there was far from unanimity on their ability to reach the heights. Fondy's range among the eight voters was from first to sixth and Oshkosh's from first to fifth.

Central and Appleton were the other quintets accorded first-place tags. Central, with five lettermen but only the

Renews Plea To Cut Down Selection List

Washington — (AP) — George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, has renewed his proposal that professional football clubs be allowed to draft only 20 college players every year.

"And I think that later we ought to go down to 10," Marshall said Monday.

The Redskin owner said he also would recommend again that the National Football league eliminate its early draft of college stars.

Clubs Meet Dec. 1 The 12 NFL clubs will meet in Philadelphia Dec. 1 to select the first four of their allotted 30 collegians, a practice of some years' standing.

They are scheduled to complete the remaining 24 rounds, as in the past, at the annual NFL meeting which begins Jan. 29.

The early draft originated when the league was in competition with the old All-America conference and continued on grounds it prevented Canadian teams from getting the jump on NFL clubs for the best U.S. players.

The All-America is now defunct, and Marshall termed the argument regarding Canada's threat a myth.

Marshall suggested the same revisions last year but the league failed to act. He now predicts they will be adopted in another two years.

"Merely Groping" Thirty is too high a draft figure, Marshall contended, for several reasons.

One, each club now has a squad of 35 and must give each selected collegian a fair tryout. That makes a training camp total of 65 for teams that don't lose any players by retirement. But the NFL limits to 80 the number of players under contract, "so we are violating our rules by five."

For another thing, Marshall said coaches are "merely groping, guessing all over the place" as far as talent is concerned in the last 15 or so rounds of the draft.

He objected to the preliminary draft because it takes up time and effort at a crucial period of the NFL season and because it comes before coaches have a chance to scout likely prospects in the big bowl games.

Bays Get Another Shot at 56-Point 'Animal' Sunday

Powerful Rams Begin 3-Game Road Trip Against Packers

Post-Crescent News Service Green Bay — There's a familiar number coming up on the Packer horizon . . . 56!

A week ago Sunday, the Packers lost a 56 to 0 decision to the Baltimore Colts. Now, the Packers face a team that has scored 56 points — the Los Angeles Rams who finish against Baltimore and Green Bay.

It's like a second chance for the Green Bays — getting a shot at one of those 56-point animals.

City Stadium Clash Packerland will get an in-the-flesh look at what the Bays expect to do with a 56-point club, since the clash is scheduled at City stadium. Kickoff is set for 1:06.

The Rams were fearsome in their ripping of the Forty Niners before 95,082. They rolled up 578 yards, including 324 rushing and 254 passing on 17 completions in 27 attempts — not to mention eight touchdowns.

The early returns from Frisco indicate that the 49ers stacked their defensive deck to stop the great Jon Arnett. They did to the extent of one touchdown but seven others got touchdowns, including two for Del Shofner on 64 and 72-yard passes from Bill Wade.

Could Be Unlucky If you believe in black cats and other tokens of superstition, it might be mentioned that 56 could be an unlucky number. The Colts settled down from their 56-0 score to

Several Big Ten Coaches on Spot

Daugherty Is Latest to See His Image Hanging From Tree

BY JACK CLARY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Some college football coaches are beginning to sweat a bit from the heat of burned up alumni who can't understand why their teams can't win consistently, or even at all.

Some other coaches, because they just inherited teams with dubious talent, are serving a year's grace, but are marked men if they don't produce a winner next season.

The Big Ten is having the

However, the speedy Northwestern junior failed to gain on Purdue's Bob Jarus who also scored a touchdown Saturday and has 60 points on 10 touchdowns.

Illinois Backs Hickey, McDade are Sidelined

By The Associated Press

Northwestern — Six Wildcats are sidelined with injuries but only two are questionable for the Purdue game. They are halfback-end, Irv Cross, and fullback Mike Stock.

Illinois — Quarterback Bob Hickey of Chicago and Dick McDade, Urbana halfback, were sidelined by injuries but a trio of halfbacks: Zion's L. T. Bonner, Doug Wallace of Elgin and Joe Krakowski of Westville went through drills in preparation for Wisconsin.

Michigan — The battered Wolverines had Evanston's Brad Myers at No. 1 left halfback in opening drills for Indiana.

Iowa — No injuries were reported by the Big Ten champions. The Hawkeyes had a light signal drill and watched movies in preparation for Ohio State.

Ohio State — Quarterback Frank Kremblas has a twisted knee and a rib separation. He will be replaced by Jerry Fields for the Iowa encounter.

Michigan State — The Spartans will seek their first Big Ten victory this season against winless Minnesota Saturday. MSU's loss to Indiana was the fourth in a row—the first time that has happened to the Spartans since 1927.

Minnesota — Injured veterans Perry Gehring, a left end, and Artie Bomstad, right halfback, returned to the Gopher camp. Also promoted on the first team were tackle Norm Sixta, guard Tom Brown and quarterback Larry Johnson.

Notre Dame — The Irish lost first string center Myron Pottius for the rest of the season. He has a shoulder separation. Guard Jim Schaaf, who

7 Schools Being Considered As Cotton Bowl Visiting '11'

Dallas —(AP)—Seven schools are on the list from which the Cotton bowl expects to pick its visiting team but which is the hottest prospect isn't being revealed.

Mississippi, Air Force academy, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, North Carolina, Army and Louisiana State are on the list. Army is doubtful, since it never has indicated it would accept a bowl bid.

Louisiana State's can't be called a strong possibility in view of its closeness to the Sugar bowl.

Felix R. McKnight, chairman of the Cotton bowl selection committee, said today some of the schools on a list already had been contacted and scouted.

Rice and Texas Christian are tied for the lead in the Southwest conference race with 3-0 records. Southern Methodist still is in contention with 2-1. The SWC champ is host.

Mississippi, with a 7-1 record (the only loss was to Louisiana State, the nation's No. 1 team), has Tennessee and Mississippi State to play. Syracuse, 6-1 (a loss only to Holy Cross but a victory over Pittsburgh), has Colgate and West Virginia left.

Pitt, which lost to Syracuse and was tied by Army, has a 5-2-1 record with Nebraska and Penn State to play. North Carolina, 6-2 and now has a 6-game winning streak, has Notre Dame and Duke left.

California Is Favorite for Bowl Berth

Bears Must Meet Cougars, Stanford in PCC Finales

San Francisco—It may become hopelessly muddled later, but at the moment the Pacific Coast conference picture shows California clearly leading the race to the Rose bowl.

The Bears, with a 4-1 mark, are the only PCC football squad having just one conference loss. Three other schools each have two defeats but they have an outside chance.

California is the favorite, despite the reluctance of Bear Coach Pete Elliott to accept the role. He's worried about this Saturday's contest with Washington.

Play in Seattle Washington meets the Bears in Seattle, but California is favored. If Cal goes according to form and tops the Huskies, it looks as if the Bears will meet Iowa in Pasadena New Year's day.

After Washington, Cal takes on Stanford in the season closer.

California's three challengers, Washington State, Oregon State and Southern California, have rough going to overtake the Bears.

WCS, with a 5-2 record, has one conference game left. The Cougars meet Washington on neutral ground to end their PCC season. Should they win as expected and Cal lose one or both its closers, the Cougars will have a shot at the roses.

Two Road Tilts

Oregon State, 4-2, must face Stanford at Palo Alto and Oregon at Oregon's home in Corvallis. State should be favored in both contests.

A Cal loss to either Washington or Stanford or both, combined with two Oregon State victories, would give the Beavers a chance.

Southern Cal has just one PCC game left, its traditional contest with cross-town UCLA. USC should be favored.

The Trojans will pack a 4-2 PCC mark into the UCLA game and one or two California losses plus an SC victory can give the Trojans a chance to see Pasadena.

seventh highest hold - over point aggregate, had the almost incredible range of first to seventh in the voting.

AHS, stripped of its five starters by graduation and having only two lettermen, was voted anywhere between first and fifth. The notion is strong that some writers, refusing to believe Appleton could have a "down" year, voted either on the basis of habit or as a tribute to the Terrors' proud cage tradition.

Could Surprise Again

It could be that the scribes have repeated their 1957 mistake of underestimating the power of Manitowoc. Last year, Manty was rated fourth but finished on top. This year, the Ships have three lettermen plus that ever-lovin' ever-cozy arena of their's which makes a visitors' win all but unheard-of.

East, too, with two lettermen and the fifth highest returning point total, could easily scramble the ratings.

What makes prognostication all the tougher is that practically all of the established stars are gone. For the first time in several seasons, no hold-over all - conference players will grace the courts. Also, the nine highest individual scorers of '57-8 all have been graduated. They are, in order, East's By Prentice, Manitowoc's Bill Nelson, Appleton's Jack Ullweiling, East's Tom Hughbanks, West's Gilson, Central's Duane Prinsen, West's Marv Luedtke, Central's Paul Testu, and North's Charley Jones, Jr.

A closer look at team prospects:

OSHKOSH

— Forming the nucleus of Coach Ron Nord's seventh Indian team are lettermen Dick Butt (6-2), Chuck Wiesner (6-2), Gene Englund, Jr. (6-4), Bob Leary, Don Lehmann and Marv Stille. Chuck Line, 6-5 reserve of last year, adds to the team's impressive height. The returnees accounted for 362 of Oshkosh's points last year. The JV team finished with a 6-8 record.

FOND DU LAC

— Coach Carl Smedberg has two of the conference's three highest returning scorers in "Hub" King, with 177 points (tenth in the league) and Jim Damm, 154. Other lettered returnees are Darrell McArthur, Mike Murphy, Dick Bestor and Darwin Rose. There's a possibility a seventh letterman, Dave Krebsbach, will overcome eligibility problems. All told, the returnees scored 597 FRVC points last year — highest of any team.

Fondy's jayvees had a 7-7 conference record last year—the school's best record in years.

CENTRAL

— Veteran Coach Carl Hubner lost four of five starters but has these five lettermen back: Phil Nack, Bob Ayers, Reed Tupper, George Mesek, Dave Carlton. Mesek is the tallest at 6-4. From the slick, unbeaten JV team, the standouts are Tom Posewitz, Gary Azzub, Dan Davies and 6-3 Bud Wright.

APPLETON

— Coach Dick Emanuel has only one letterman who played a full season—6-5 Ron Abel—and a second (John Nussbaum) who played half a varsity season. Returnees accounted for 137 points last year—sixth high on the pre-season list. Other returning varsitymen are Bob Ferrel, Bob Roemer and Ron Reetz. A second - place JV team (12-2) produced some promising material.

MANITOWOC

— The returning regular from last year's champions is Dick Hall—tied with Fondy's King as highest returning scorer. Other lettermen on Coach John Jung's twelfth Manty team are Bob Shaw and Al Shelfhaut. The returnees scored 183 points—fourth best in the conference. Non - lettermen varsity hold-overs include Leo Zipperer, "Bucky" Leclair, Norris Jergenson and Dale Elm. The JV team posted a 4-10 mark last year.

SHEBOYGAN NORTH

— Returning squad members scored 332 points—third best on the list, Charley Klauck, who scored 136 points last year, heads a nucleus of three returning regulars. Other lettermen are Jerry Hummitchsch, Randy Prange and Jim Oldenburg. Coach "Bump" Jones' best prospect from a last-place JV team (2-12) is Rob-in Green.

GREEN BAY WEST

— The 6-4 Don Henrickson, lone letterman, may be the key to West hopes. Four other varsity hold-overs are members of Bruce Fossum's sixth edition of the Wildcats. They are Gary Just, Charles Apple, Tom Callaway and Dennis Ray. The 6-5 Tom Quinn and 6-2 Gordon Lenz.

GREEN BAY EAST

— Coach Carl Sundry, in his third season, will have returning regular Bob Wittig and one other letterman, Gabe Biedemer. Other returning varsitymen are "Chuck" Hanford and Bruce Krueger. Among the good bets off the 5-9 JV team are 6-foot-3 Don Sharp Ray. The 6-5 Tom Quinn and 6-2 Gordon Lenz.

Giants Take Battering in Win Over Colts

Stroud, Brown and Webster All Suffer Disabling Injuries

New York—The battering the New York Giants took in their grueling victory over the Baltimore Colts last Sunday may have an effect on their game against the Steelers in Pittsburgh this weekend.

Linemen Jack Stroud and Roosevelt Brown and halfback Alex Webster were listed among the injured today with their availability against Pittsburgh questionable. As a result, the Giants are only a 4-point favorite to defeat the Steelers.

Stroud, a guard who had been sidelined for several weeks, injured his right knee and definitely will be out of action. Originally, he was sidelined with a strained left knee. Brown suffered a fractured right cheekbone and was resting at a hospital. Although the break is not serious, the big tackle will be hospitalized for several days.

Webster was in bed at home with a bruised right knee and a swollen right ankle that he said was "in pretty bad shape."

Fullback Mel Triplett suffered a slight head concussion and was forced to the sidelines in the second half.

Break Hold Of Canadiens On Point Lead

Litzenberger and Bathgate Tied for 1st in Scoring

Montreal — Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers and Eddie Litzenberger of the Chicago Black Hawks have broken the hammerlock held by the Canadiens on the National Hockey league scorers.

Bathgate and Litzenberger are tied for the scoring lead, figures released by the league disclosed today. Each has 18 points. Montreal's Jean Beliveau and Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion are right on their heels with 15 each.

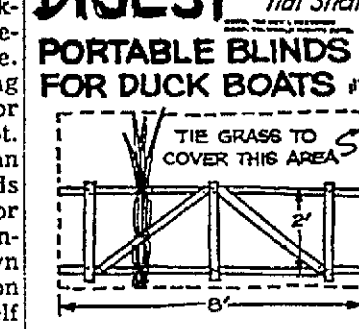

A week ago the Canadiens had four players among the first five with Beliveau and Geoffrion sharing first place. The only non-Montreal player in the group was Litzenberger, who was in a 3-way deadlock for third.

Bathgate collected three goals and an assist in three games last week while Litzenberger was scoring twice and setting up a goal in two contests.

Otto Graham Says Coaching Is a Business

Milwaukee — Otto Graham, one of the top-ranking quarterbacks in football's history, says that football—college or pro—is a business, not a sport.

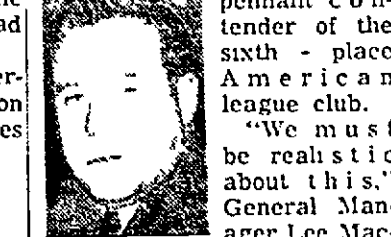

Graham, who directed the College All-Stars to victory over the pro Detroit Lions in his first coaching effort last August, spoke here Monday night at an annual sports fans' banquet.

He said he had received a few coaching offers, including one from a Midwestern college. "But I'm not interested," said the former Cleveland Browns quarterback. "Let's face it, football's a business, not a sport."

Says Orioles Must Struggle

MacPhail Won't Aim for Contender in First Year

Baltimore — The new boss of the Baltimore Orioles isn't going to jump in and try to make a pennant contender of the sixth - place American league club.

MacPhail said "The club is not ready to make the big move now."

MacPhail said "Baltimore has made a fine start" toward building a club since transfer of the St. Louis Browns' franchise here after the 1953 season. But Baltimore, he said, "will have to struggle for a couple of years" before becoming a top-flight team.

The Orioles staged the news conference Monday so MacPhail could meet the press. The 41-year-old son of former New York Yankee owner Larry MacPhail has been director of player personnel for the Yanks. He said he planned to come here at the end of November and would move his family to Baltimore after the first of the year.

The job pays $35,000 a year and carries a 3-year contract.

Arizin Gains 2nd in Scoring

Trails Only George Yardley in NBA Race

New York — Pitcho Paul Arizin, a 2-time National Basketball association scoring champion, spurred during the past week to move into second place behind defending Detroit George Yardley of the Pistons.

The jump-shooting specialist of the Philadelphia Warriors advanced from eighth with 92 points in three games. This boosted Arizin's season output to 190 points in seven games. He ranks sixth among the all-time NBA scorers.

Plays One Game

According to figures released today by league headquarters, Yardley still leads with 216 points in nine games. Gene Shue of Detroit, who collected a season's high of 45 against Boston Sunday, is third with 178. Rookie Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis holds fourth with 177.

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, runner-up a week ago, played only one game and fell to fifth with 175 points in six games. His 29.2 average is tops followed by Arizin's 27.1 points per game mark.

This Kind of Charley Conerly determination helped the New York Giants upset Baltimore, 24-21 Sunday. At the top the trapped Conerly throws pass from his knees. At the bottom, Phil King grabs it for a gain of 15 yards in the third period. The Colt pass defender is Don Joyce.

Former Coach Calls Army's Offense Best He Has Seen

Houston — The man who coached Texas A&M to the national championship in 1939 says Army's 1958 offense is the best he's seen in modern-day football.

"That lonely end, the slot man, the unbalanced line each way, and men in motion—what else do you expect to see?" said Homer Norton. The halfback or a fullback-tackle former Aggie coach now in the motel business.

Norton penned his views on Army's last-minute 14-7 victory over Rice Saturday in a column published in several Texas newspapers.

"Busiest" End

"That offense my good friend Earl Blaik threw at Rice was by far the best I've seen in modern day football," Norton proclaimed.

Norton says he thinks he's found the secret for the lone, some end and he thinks it's a misnomer.

"He (Bilik Carpenter) should be called the busiest end in college football. He's a great pass receiver, he's a great decoy."

Carpenter hauled in six passes for 71 yards, including a scoring 8-yarder.

Veterans of Many Wars Find Peace, Medical Care at Wood

BY BETTY KILICH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Wood — In this quiet, gentle community of trees and hills, all of the residents except five are male, with an average age of over 60.

Surrounded by the rush and noise of metropolitan Milwaukee, the 263 acres of Wood of Indian wars there, it was Veterans center offer veterans of American wars medical care, comfort, restful seclusion and, quite often, a permanent home.

Veterans come to Wood for several reasons — some of them suffering from war-inflicted injuries, some of them in need of treatment for illness not necessarily connected with the wars and others, without families or means, come for a home and companionship.

But despite the common background which draws them to Wood — that of having served in the wars — not a war story was heard during a recent tour of the grounds. Rather it was current interests which occupied conversational time or, perhaps, proud talk of sons and daughters.

Varied Program
A varied program of recreational, occupational and therapeutic activities keeps the men busy, whether they are patients in the general hospital or members of the domiciliary (home for permanent residents). A multitude of facilities are available to make Wood a self-sufficient community.

Veterans from many states and many wars are cared for at Wood.

In the geriatrics ward, Frank Gabriel and Patrick Murray, 95 and 91, respectively, are roommates. Neither look their age. Although at 95, Gabriel is drowsy and filled with sleep, he awakens from his morning nap to tell us he fought in the Indian wars around Cheyenne, Wyo. He's the oldest member at Wood and the only veteran of Indian wars there, it was pointed out.

Murray, a bit more agile and active, noted that his companion originally is from Austria and once played the role of Christ in a passion play in his homeland.

Three Wars
Murray himself is a veteran of three wars, he says — the Spanish-American, Boer and World War I. Where is his home? "Oh, that's hard to say," he replies. "All over, I guess. Usually from Chicago. Now I'd say it's here at Wood. I've got a daughter who teaches Indian children in North Dakota," he adds proudly.

In the 10,000-volume Wadsworth library, part of the domiciliary's facilities, we found the grounds of the former Mitchell estate an excellent spot for Sunday outdoor recreation.

Two Theaters
Two theaters, one in the hospital and one in the domiciliary area, offer movies and live entertainment to patients.

The construction of the hospital theater makes apparent the nature of its audience for, not only are regular seats provided, but a raised flat area at the rear indicates it also is designed for the entertainment of wheelchair and litter patients.

The other theater, besides being an entertainment center, is a point of historic interest in Wisconsin. It is a replica of the old Ford theater in which Lincoln was shot and part of it once was a railway station.

Although the center one encompassed 400 acres, over 100 acres have been sold — some on the east to accommodate the Milwaukee stadium and some on the west to make way for an expressway.

2,894 Veterans
What started in 1867 as a "National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers," primarily for Union veterans of the Civil war, now has grown into the center for 2,894 veterans of several more wars.

More information about the $12,000,000 a year operation was provided by John M. Street, director of special services and a member of one general medical, tuberculosis and neuropsychiatric patients.

Other diversions are provided through help of the 44 volunteer organizations who work with the center and donate about 100,000 hours a year in Civil war, now has grown into the center for 2,894 veterans of several more wars.

Wiesner, left, a former Milwaukee newspaperman and a member of the domiciliary since 1950, works on a manuscript in Wadsworth library. The oldest resident of Wood is Frank Gabriel, 95, center, who fought in the Indian wars while Patrick Murray, right, served in three wars—the Spanish-American, Boer and World War I.

Memorial Service Held By Holy Name Society

The Holy Name society of St. Joseph Catholic church held a memorial service Sunday after the breakfast meeting and mass, during which the members received communion in a body.

The Rev. Kenneth Barnes gave a talk honoring eighteen deceased members of the society. Arrangements were made by Chris J. Mullen, society president, and Bernard H. Kemps.

care in the hospital, he continues, an administrative staff, social workers, medical illustrators, technicians, vocational guidance counselors, special service technicians and many others combine to form a team for total care, with the ultimate goal of restoring the individual to a healthy life in his own community.

Federal Government
Street goes on to mention the entire program is supported by the federal government with the help of private donations and a volunteer program which brings about 1,000 volunteers a month to the operation.

He also notes that five full-time and two part-time chaplains are on hand at the center, along with 12 full-time employees who deal only in recreational activities.

Included in statistics indicating the extent of the only VA center in the state, are 25 funerals a month. And over 12,000 white arched headstones laid in military-straight rows over the peaceful hillocks give a modest remembrance to veterans now gone.

A shift of fire equipment today by the city will provide aerial ladder truck service from the station at Lincoln and Lawe streets.

An 85-foot ladder truck and a 1953 model pumper were transferred from the main station downtown to the south side precinct, Chief Neumann announced.

Older apparatus was moved from the Lincoln-Lawe station to the main station. The industrial flats and all of the southside will be served from the south side station, Neumann said.

The move necessitated moving three men from the main station to the south side station. The south side complement now is eight.

Pupil-Teacher Ratio In Menasha Public Schools Set at 25.2

Grade Average Above State Maximum;
Junior, Senior High Below Normal

Menasha — There are 24.6 pupils for every teacher in the junior-senior high school and a 25.5 ratio in the grade schools, Supt. of Schools M. J. Gegan informed the school board Monday night. The overall ratio is 25.2 pupils per teacher.

The high school ratio is below the state department of public instruction's recommended 30 maximum while the grade school ratio is above the 25 maximum.

A pupil-teacher ratio report was compiled because of Mayor R. G. DuCharme's criticism that Menasha's ratio was very low compared to other systems in the state.

The report showed the pupil-teacher ratio in the junior-senior high school reported to the North Central association in 1956-57 was 24.4; 1957-58, 24.6; and 1958-59, 24.6.

Ratio Drops

Reports sent to the state department of public instruction in 1956-57 and 1957-58 showed the ratio in the kindergarten through sixth grades was 31. It dropped to 25.5 this year with the opening of the new Clovis-Grove Grade school.

Gegan observed there is a much better teaching situation in the grade schools this year because of the opening of Clovis - Grove. He also pointed out the situation in the junior-senior high has been better over the years than in the grade schools.

12 More Teachers

Using all the professional staff, including the principal, nurse, dental hygienist, etc., the overall pupil-teacher ratio this year is 23.7. Using just classroom teachers the number of pupils per teacher this year is 25.2.

This year there are 87 instructors for 2,066 students. Twelve teachers were added this fall when the Clovis-Grove school opened.

Handcuffed Vernon Dillman, 22, third from right, stands with head bowed as searchers used a mine detector today in a continuing attempt to find the tire iron he says he used to beat Miss Ruth Schmidt, whose body was found nearby about 2½ months after the beating. Winnebago county and Oshkosh police have not found the weapon.

Dillman Taken To Scene of Murder Crime

Sheriff Continues
Search for Tire
Iron in Marsh Area

Oshkosh — The killer returned to the scene of his crime today.

Vernon R. Dillman, 22-year-old confessed slayer of Ruth Schmidt, 17-year-old Oshkosh High school graduate of last June, was taken back to the marshy area on a town of Omro road this morning by Sheriff Charles L. Lowry and members of his staff in an attempt to find the tire iron with which he allegedly killed the girl late in the evening of Aug. 15.

Police have spent several days combing the tall marshy grass area to find the tire iron which Dillman said he threw away a few feet from the body. But the search has been without success.

Burn Tall Grass

Omro firemen stood by while sections of the marsh were burned to cut down the tall grass and make the search easier. An army mine detector was borrowed from the national guard and it failed to locate the 2-foot long tire iron.

"We'll continue to look for the tire iron until we find it or are satisfied that it is not there," the sheriff said.

Wauwatosa police expressed an interest in the case and are wondering whether Dillman might be connected with the rape murder of Mrs. Edna Mauch who was found murdered in her bed Aug. 9.

Detective Sgt. Alvina Bastling of the Wauwatosa force has asked Oshkosh authorities for samples of Dillman's hair, fingerprints and saliva to compare with evidence found at the Mauch home.

Authorities also are checking whether Dillman worked at a Menasha paper firm on the night shift Aug. 8. The night shift completed work at 11 p.m. that night.

New Industry to Start In Old Whale Building

Waupaca Men to Manufacture Paper
Handling Equipment

Waupaca — A new industrial plant, specializing in production of light paper handling equipment has been incorporated by two Waupaca industrialists. They expect to begin production soon at the old Whale Saffey Paper plant.

Products at the light fabricating plant will be designed to eliminate many hand operations, such as moving and sorting of sheet paper between actual production and packing operations.

When the operation reaches full capacity, an estimated 20 persons will be employed.

Leading the corporation is Harold Johnston, president-treasurer, Clark Moore, vice president and general manager, and Mrs. Harold Johnston, secretary.

Johnston is the former owner of the Filter Material plant. Moore resigned as president of the Moore-O-Matic company here.

The business was incorporated as a closed corporation. No stock will be offered for public sale. Details of the transaction were not released.

The Whale building, owned by Bergstrom Paper company of Neenah, was purchased by Johnston who will lease it to the corporation. Bergstrom occupied the building until this week when the safety paper division was moved to the main office in Neenah.

Johnston and Moore purchased the Whale safety paper manufacturing plant about a year ago.

Moore will head operations as general manager and designing engineer. Assisting him will be a designing draftsman. Johnston will not participate in actual plant operations.

A future addition to the firm may be Johnston's son, Ronald K., who will be trained by Moore as his assistant.

Tells Neenah Club

Mennes Sees Need of $3.6 Million In School Buildings Before 1970

Neenah — Barring further annexation, Neenah shall need $3,656,625 between now and 1970 to erect buildings to house our school population, Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes Monday told the Neenah club.

Since 1948 Neenah has approved bond issues totaling over $2,814,000 for three new school buildings and four additions, he cited. "These additions in physical facilities have kept us abreast of our building needs. Our most urgent need today is a new junior high. We are very anxious to start work on that phase of the program."

"Another urgent need is more facilities for the elementary program in the southeast section of the city and more facilities at a high school level. We shall need to continue to build until 1971 if all the needs which our census and enrollment reveal are to be met."

The superintendent cited a New York building consultant who said there would be little relief in building needs in the next 25 years. When children born in 1944 start to have families, there will be another upward direction of the enrollment chart, he continued.

Mennes said the Neenah board of education has built sound economical buildings. Its elementary schools are costing from $1,200 to $1,600 per pupil complete. The new junior high will cost an estimated $956,525. It would house 750 students and cost between $1,200 to $1,300 per pupil. Schools usually referred to as palaces cost from $2,500 to $3,500 per pupil, he emphasized.

6,000 Pupils by 1970

Mennes listed one of the problems in the education field in the next decade as the number of pupils. Since 1940 Neenah has quadrupled the 105 boys and girls at the 4-year-old level and indications are this number will increase.

He predicted an enrollment of more than 6,000 students by 1970, with an unusually high percentage of capable students because of the nature of the community.

The building program was a second major problem and curriculum was a third. He referred to the detailed and exhaustive studies made by teachers for the improvement of curriculum and of the study of providing for gifted children. The superintendent went into detail on the curriculum studies.

Finance was called the fourth major concern. Neenah has a staff of 128 teachers and throughout the country there was a shortage of 135,000 teachers. He quoted a National Education association

E & R Offers 11.5% Gross Return on Rental Property

Neenah — Erwin G. Rehbein, president of E & R Construction company, Highway 41, points out that the company, after a great deal of study in the rental field, can build a 4-apartment building that will show a 11.5% gross profit return with rental income of only $100 per month, per apartment.

This $100 rent income figure, he said, is a conservative estimate. The apartment would have two good sized bedrooms with closet, sliding doors, L-shaped living-dining room combination, kitchen, bath and plenty of closets. A similar rental would bring a $120-$130 return in the Milwaukee area.

Here's A Picture Taken At Lakeroad Bowling Lanes, 1015 S. Commercial street, Neenah, showing the Ladies' Wednesday Afternoon League in action. In the upper part of the picture are the new Telescopes which enlarge and "televise" scores for all participants to see. Lakeroad is the only bowling center, north of Milwaukee, to have these new Telescopes. They speed up games and create competition and more fun for all, according to Mrs. Verna Drucks, owner. Spectators can watch all scores across 16 alleys for 4 match games. At left is Jack Feavel, manager, a native of Chilton, Wis., who assists in giving free bowling lessons and measures bowling balls for correct fit. Lakeroad is observing its 10th anniversary Saturday, Nov. 15. Area people are invited to stop at Lakeroad then and watch the famous Hamm's Bowlers of Chicago bowl a local, high-average team. Lakeroad features open bowling Saturday nights and every afternoon. Free lessons are available to beginning bowlers each afternoon.

Rehbein said that rent prices were slightly lower in this area than in other markets, due to a slightly lower income ratio and because most rental properties are older properties here. People can afford to rent cheaper as the property was constructed during a time of much lower building cost. However, the trend undoubtedly will be for a continued rise in rent.

Building Is Complete

E & R's president said that while the apartments are large the proposed 4-apartment building is also complete. The building is 2 stories high with a full basement and has good exterior design with a hip roof and shutters on the sliding windows. There is 3,432 sq. ft. of floor area in the building, he said. The exterior is completely finished with split rock except for the front entrance which is framed with Lannon Stone. There are oak floors in the bedrooms, living room and dining room.

Linoleum will be in the kitchen and covered linoleum in the bath. The walls and ceilings are plastered and all exterior walls and ceiling will be carefully insulated. Insulation for sound proofing will be installed between floor levels and apartment. The kitchen will have oak cabinets with formica top and twin bowl sinks as well as garbage disposal as a laundry tray.

The baths will have a tiled shower area over the tub with chrome accessories as well as the medicine cabinets. The windows would be a sliding type unit with removable aluminum storms and screens. Oak doors would be installed in all apartments and built-in shelves would be installed in the dining area.

4 Gas Heating Units

Rehbein said that four natural gas heating units would be installed in the fireproof heating room as well as four individual 30 gallon gas hot water heaters. The basement would have four locker rooms for private storage by the tenants. There would be plumbing and electrical outlets for four separate washers and driers in the basement as well of rising costs coming in the spring of 1959 and with this, another spurt of inflation. The wise investor would make his investment now before the prices rise and take advantage of the price rise on a higher market resale value.

Real estate is one of the few investments where the dollar value on resale keeps up with the deflated dollar.

For further explanation and facts on how to make 11.5% gross profit by investing in a 4-apartment building, Rehbein suggested interested people make an appointment at an early date. The company has complete plans and specifications available and will assist in locating land as well as financing. E & R Agency's phone number is 2-6466.

of mysterious devices to lead the people astray. Quite the opposite, as a matter of fact. They have gone out of their way so as to enable an infant to be an Einstein, in effect, since by the touch of a button, an orchestra enters your living room and sends forth sounds that, with the slightest bit of imagination, make you think you are in Carnegie Hall. This, good people, is Stereophonic Sound, the second, third, and fourth dimensions of musical splendor.

Where did all this begin? To offer a brief biography, in 1932 Bell Sound Laboratories started, experimenting with Dyna-ural (the word that later became Stereo) sound, or the listening to sound with earphones. The only difference from ordinary sound was that separate or different sounds were heard by each ear.

A rapid progression took place, and in a matter of a few years, a disc was produced that required the use of two needles to reproduce two separate sounds through the medium of loudspeakers or earphones.

Again a rapid advance (10-15 years) took place during which stereo tape stuck its head in somewhere and the idea of the aforementioned dyna-ural disc was shelved. This brings us to approximately 1952 when Bell sound launched the first complete stereo amplifier. By this time, of course, there were a good many stereo tapes on the market. By 1957 the Hi-Fi industry was booming, and the "craze" had taken hold, allowing the average family the convenience of "that crazy Hi-Fi sound," and leaving the seemingly-forgotten Stereo tape for the connoisseur or Hi-Fi addicts.

Finally the combined efforts of the recording industry paid off, the culmination of their research resulting in a new stereo disc requiring the use of only one needle and yet reproducing two separate sounds. Once again the stereo bug bit, and by mid-summer this year, stereo was a reality, which brings us to the present.

Do not let the word Stereo frighten you. As evidenced by pre-explanation, it is not a "here today—gone tomorrow" sort of thing. It is a masterpiece of precision engineering and millions of dollars of research. The present day stereo system utilizes one needle, following through one groove in the record, miraculously Neenah — Three new books on art have been added to the Hedges Memorial collection at the Neenah Public library.

One of these, "The Complete Woodcuts of Albrecht Durer," edited by Dr. Willi Kurth, is a volume containing all the woodcuts Durer made. Durer is recognized as one of the masters of woodcuts, particularly on sacred themes. All of his religious works as well as many other masterpieces are included in the volume.

Blazkova's "A Book of Tapestries" is the second book added. For many centuries, according to Miss May Hart, librarian, tapestries, which are luxurious draperies and wall hangings, have been among the great works of European art.

Tapestries were particularly popular in the 16th and 17th centuries and many have been preserved to this day in castles, palaces and museums, priceless treasures of great artistic and historical value. Among the examples displayed are the unique series of late Gothic tapestries depicting the legend of the Queen of Sheba, probably woven in Brussels in 1536. Many of the plates are in color.

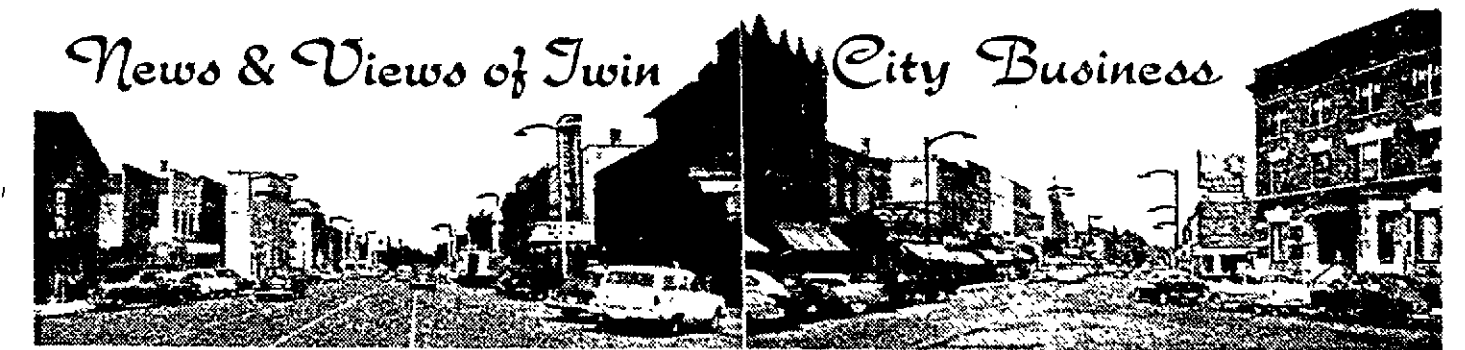

The third book added is "New Art in America" edited by Bauer. Fifty leading painters of this century were selected by the authors who are eminent art critics. The artists are presented in 50 large color plates and supplemented by black and white illustrations.

A biography of each painter has been provided and most of them have contributed statements of their esthetic aims and methods. More than a picture book, the knowledge, wide experience and insight of the authors join to create a stimulating text that is readable and full of illuminating comments, Miss Hart said.

Larson Cleaners, 113 S. Commercial Street, Neenah, a high quality firm that features the Super C method of dry cleaning has been owned and operated by Charles G. (Charlie) Larson for 22 years. Shown above is Larson and his wife, Hazel, at work in the newly remodeled shop. Dresses, blouses, shirts, skirts and formals are hand pressed at no extra charge. Men's suits can be hand pressed at a small added cost. Furniture and rugs are expertly cleaned. A rug cleaning machine is on a rental basis for the do-it-yourselfer. All household articles including slipcovers, blankets, drapes, curtains and lace tablecloths are super-cleaned the Super C way. It is a completely different "dry" method of cleaning that restores newly-tailored life to garments. Larson Cleaners can return a customer's dry cleaning work with new fabric life, sharper colors and whiter whites. Garments feel as soft as fur and have the freshness of clean air. The Super C method is ideal for synthetic fibres, too, Larson said. The firm personally checks all articles for button loss and minor repairs. These repairs are made at no extra cost. The firm invites comparison with other dry cleaning methods, confident that customers will be highly pleased with the Super C extra-dry, moistureless, non-shrink method used at Larson Cleaners. Twin Citians can save 10% on a cash and carry basis or may call Parkway 2-4161 for pick up and delivery. All work is done at the Larson plant. Dyeing of clothing and reweaving of cigarette burns or tears are two extra services offered at this reliable Neenah shop.

Mennes Tells of Future Neenah School Needs

bulletin of September which cited low salaries as the major cause of the teacher shortage.
For all teachers in public schools the average was $4,650 last year. The estimated average income in 17 professions for the same period was about $7,600 or 64 per cent above the average for teaching.

Cannot Afford?
"When we say we cannot afford professional salaries for teachers, we really mean we prefer to spend our money for other things. If so, and we have a right to choose, we should not expect to have professional teachers and the kind of schools 'only good teachers can create.' Mennes told the Neenah club.

"A nation, however, that spends more on liquor and tobacco than for all public, elementary and high school education can hardly plead poverty. When our arch rival, Russia, spends three times more than the proportion of its national income than we do for our schools, we have reason to question the sincerity of 'can't afford' argument. Rather, it is a question of values."

He referred to a research study of the Wisconsin Education association which shows that Neenah's expenditure of $318.41 for both elementary and high school costs is below the average cost of the state of $337.86. It has been below the state average for the last three years, Mennes pointed out.

He pointed also to a state taxation department survey which showed that for cities employing 100 to 500 educational workers, Neenah ranked fourth in the ability of the community to support public education and 18th, or fifth from the bottom, with a full value tax rate of $10.63 for school purposes. He referred also to a statement of Mayor Bell to the Neenah club several weeks ago in which the mayor mentioned Neenah was third from the bottom in full value tax rates of 13 cities in the 100,000 to 20,000 population group.

Slope Cut for Sewer Now Dangerous, Man Tells City Council

W. Sloan Culver, 32 Bellaire court, protests danger to his house created by sewer work in Bellaire park ravine, in a letter filed with the city.

"The operation," he says, "cut back into the slope several feet leaving two unsupported clay cliffs of considerable height. Inasmuch as there is only approximately 10 feet of flat at the rear of my house should this slope let go, the ensuing damage to the foundation of the house and its superstructure would be considerable."

Bulldozers, he claims, shook his house so badly during the work that plaster in several rooms cracked.

City engineers said the slope was refilled after the work, but some of the fill apparently has sunk. The slope is thick with trees that should hold it together, they said.

Young Laborer Held for Murder In Fatal Stabbing

Chester, Pa. —A 20-year-old Chester laborer is being held on a charge of murder after a bloody riot in which one youth was killed and several others injured.

The brawl broke out early Sunday morning outside a sandwich shop. It broke up just as quickly after a knife was flashed and two combatants stabbed. Those involved were a neighborhood group of Puerto Ricans and a white boy and two carloads of white boys who went to the shop after attending a dance.

The dead boy was Thomas Clemson, 17, West Chester, who police said recently quit high school to go to work. He died of a stab wound in the left chest.

The second stabbing victim, Bruce Kahler, 19, of nearby Downingtown, underwent emergency surgery in West Chester Memorial hospital for a groin wound. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

Arrested for both stabbings was Estaban "Steve" Chamorro, 20, who police say has confessed after undergoing five hours of questioning through an interpreter. Chamorro, a Puerto Rican, speaks broken English.

Scout Enjoyed Time in Cave

Roanoke, Va. —Plucky Charles Harris, nursing a broken arm and a few scratches, said: "Sure, I would like to go again... it was a lot of fun."

It was Harris who tumbled during a 50-foot descent into a cave in remote mountain country west of here Saturday and set off a mass rescue effort.

Harris and 10 members of Explorer Scout Post 880 from Chesterfield county waited eight hours, mostly in darkness, some 400 feet below the cave entrance before being brought to the surface. A few of the boys were frightened but Harris suffered the only injury.

Troop Leader C. H. Hinnant, who scrambled out of the cave to seek help, said the boys stayed in the cave only because there was no immediate way to remove the injured youth. Harris was eventually hoisted to the surface in a basket stretcher.

3 Workmen Lose in Court's Tax Ruling

Washington —P The supreme court ruled 6-3 Monday that workmen who pay board and lodging at job sites away from their established residences may not deduct the cost as business expenses on income tax returns.

The court's decision was announced in an unsigned opinion, Justice Douglas wrote a dissent joined by Justices Black and Whitaker.

The case was brought by three North Carolina workmen. Had they won it, the principle would have applied to thousands of other workers at a cost of many millions of dollars to the U.S. treasury.

In their 1953 tax returns they sought to deduct from gross income amounts spent for subsistence and quarters while they worked on construction of a Du Pont plant at Kinston, N.C.

Calumet County Board Approves Road Budget

1959 Appropriation Estimated at $180,000, Down $10,000 From 1958

Chilton—The Calumet county board of supervisors moved swiftly through a heavy load of business Monday to clear the agenda for the budget hearing, scheduled at 10 a.m., Wednesday.

An appropriation of $90,000 was voted for maintenance of the county trunk system. Equal allotment is expected in state and federal aids, setting the over-all highway fund at $180,000, about $10,000 less than last year.

Of the county appropriation, $60,000 had been set aside for maintenance work, $17,000 for snow removal, and $13,000 in administration costs.

Work planned with the assistance of federal aid will be the grading and surfacing of about seven miles on County Y from Chilton to Potter, with expenditures not to exceed $60,000. Blacktop surfacing is planned for 1.2 miles on County J and three miles on JJ, south of New Holstein. Costs on the two projects are expected to be $23,000.

In other resolutions concerning the highway program, the supervisors authorized acquisition of right of way and building of a highway to Baker's Lake, Boot Lake and Round Lake, in the town of Rantoul. Expenditures are not to exceed $1,900.

New Equipment
The highway committee received authorization to purchase equipment of not more than $3,000.

County aid to bridges in the towns of New Holstein and Stockbridge was set at $1,054.33.

The supervisors voted an advisory resolution to the state legislature requesting present allocation of veterans housing funds quota system be changed so all allotted home loan funds may be made available for veterans, regardless of where the veteran

Liz Denies Wedding Plans

Hollywood — "There's not a word of truth in it," That's Elizabeth Taylor's answer to a report that she and singer Eddie Fisher would marry within a month. Hollywood columnist Sidney Skolsky, writing in yesterday's New York Post, said the marriage story came from the "best of sources."

Fisher has said there would never be a "quickie divorce" from actress Debbie Reynolds.

Miss Reynolds says she plans to file for divorce in California, where a final decree is not entered for one year.

Apostolate Names Nominating Unit

A nominating committee of Gerald Van Hook, Robert Bachmann and Mrs. Ray Parnell was appointed Monday at a meeting of the Appleton Apostolate.

The committee will present a slate of officers at the Jan. 12 meeting.

Appointed to a membership may wish to build or buy a house.

An appropriation of $34,550 was voted for the operation of the department of public welfare.

The Commercial bank of Chilton was designated as the working bank for the year.

The sheriff's committee was authorized to purchase new radar equipment for $1,332.

Share Prices Again Higher

Portion of Gains Cut During Early Afternoon Trading

New York — The stock market stepped further into record high ground today but trimmed some of the gain early this afternoon.

Gains of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point. Some wider advances were made. There was a scattering of small losers and a number of pivotal issues were unchanged.

American Telephone continued its upsurge for a while, touching its highest price since 1930 before erasing the gain and showing a slight net loss.

Trading was quite heavy despite Veterans day which brought semi-holiday conditions to the financial district. The ticker tape was late on two occasions.

Industrial and rails were well ahead while utilities maintained a narrow edge to the upside. Motors, coppers, aircrafts, chemicals and drugs were mostly higher.

Farm implements, tobaccos and airlines were mixed.

American Telephone, which rose 4 points Monday to a 27-year high, was ahead 11 to 202 at the opening — the utility's best price since 1930. In 1929 AT&T reached 310.

High quality investment demand was also reflected in a rise of nearly 4 points by Eastman Kodak. The advance was pared about a point.

Checker Motors ran up more than 2 points following news that it will unveil a long-planned passenger car next month. New York Shipbuilding jumped more than a point after word of a Navy contract. Union Pacific, General

Five Students Prepare for AHS Forensics

Serious Readings Will be Given at Assembly Thursday

Four seniors and one junior will participate in the serious declamation recital at Appleton High school at 2 p.m. Thursday for a student assembly. They are Kathy Hoefel, Pat Lawless, Bob Lecky and Fay Royan, seniors; and Janice Luebke, a junior.

Dramatic episodes characterized by variety both in mood and place make up the program of readings. Kathy Hoefel will give a dramatization of "Patterns" by Anne Martens, based on the famous poem by Amy Lowell.

"Yellow" by Charlotte Parkins Graham, the eerie story of a woman who is suffering from a nervous breakdown and is obsessed by the color yellow, is the reading of Miss Lawless.

Lecky's selection is "Tales of the South Pacific" by James A. Michener, which recounts the story of an American officer who visits a cemetery on a Pacific island and ponders the meaning of death and the duty of the living.

Blind Girl
"The Gentle Rain" by Nancy Owen is the reading to be given by Miss Royan. This is the story of the struggles of a young girl to adjust to life after an accident has blinded her.

Miss Luebke's choice is the suspense story "The Running Tide" by Jay Gould, which takes place at a lighthouse on a lonely island and recalls accidents that have occurred there "when the lights go out."

Miss Ruth McKenna, head of the speech department, is directing and coaching the students. H. H. Heible, principal, will preside and will present to each participant the official forensic pin. The student selected as winner of the recital will have his name engraved on the AHS Hall of Fame plaque.

This is the first of the forensic programs for the year. The humorous declamation recital is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 20.

Lawrence to be Host to Musicians

The Lawrence College Conservatory of Music will be host to music educators from throughout Wisconsin and neighboring states at a band clinic Sunday. This is the third year such a clinic has been held here.

The Lawrence concert band, under direction of Fred G. Schroeder and several guest conductors including E. C. Moore, a former faculty member, will perform compositions from the state list of selections for the spring music festival. Main purpose of the clinic is to provide educators with the opportunity to become acquainted with new scores and techniques.

AHS Students Will Hear Program on Seas

"Deep Sea Adventure" is the subject of the lecture program to be presented to students at Appleton High school Wednesday afternoon. Capt. Paul W. Dry will recount his experiences on the high seas during his million miles of ocean travel.

Correction

Chilton — Robert Kauth, 19, 1800 Kernan avenue, Appleton, not George Kauth as reported Monday, was fined $100 for disorderly conduct at a Sherwood teenage dance when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Wilbur R. Winch. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kauth.

PTA Open House

The Richmond school Parent-Teacher association will sponsor an open house at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school.

Tom Miller of Packers Will Be Speaker

Athletic Banquet For Little Chute Gridders Wednesday

Little Chute — Tom Miller, publicity director for the Green Bay Packers, will speak at the annual athletic banquet for the St. John High school football team at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in the grade school gym. The St. John Athletic association will sponsor the banquet.

Miller told athletic association officials that he may bring the Los Angeles Rams publicity director with him, if he is available. This would give the men a chance to compare teams prior to their meeting Sunday at Green Bay. The St. John team will be at the game as hosts of the Packers.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick of the unbeaten St. John team will announce the squads choice as the most valuable player. Captains will be named and letters awarded.

This is the first time the Athletic association is sponsoring the banquet. In past years it was handled by the local Businessmen's association.

Many Governments Taking U. S. Foreign Aid for Granted

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York—Every morning, I receive quite a few documents from foreign governments designed to give me information on various subjects. Much of it is hardly worth the postage, but then men need jobs, and women need them, too.

Admittedly it is impossible for anyone to read all this material, but an occasional sampling brings forth something useful. Such a one is "For the Record," published by the Arab Information center, which is a complaint that the United States gives more money to Israel than to the Arab states.

That may or may not be a fact, but it is our money and we can do with it as we like. We owe nothing to the Arabs or to Israel and if we do them a favor by giving them some money, they ought to be grateful for our generosity and sympathy and not give us any lip about how we should spend our own dough.

Too Little
These Arabs have worked it out statistically. It seems that they figure that the "American taxpayer has on the average paid thirty-five cents per year for each Arab." "For the Record" thinks that that is too little. If it is bakhshesh, (a gentle word for graft in their tongue), it may be too little, but actually what is this money being paid for? The report does not say. It only says that Israel gets more.

Suppose we decide to give no American money to any country unless we get a quid pro quo; that is something for something. What will these Arabs give us that we have not contracted and paid for by now?

The sad fact about foreign aid is that many countries no longer recognize that this is a charity to them, an act of generosity on the part of the American people. They have been aided so freely that they have come to believe that it is coming to them, that we are, in effect, bribing them to do something for us. That is why some countries are putting conditions on foreign aid—"no strings attached."

Our Choice
It is well-nigh time to remind such countries that the choice is still ours and also that we do not care whether they do go to Soviet Russia for aid. Let the Russians go broke sending their material wealth to weak and backward countries. These governments need a dose of Russian instructors and experts and organizers. Nehru let them in and now the state of Kerala is communist. Suddenly Nehru is beginning to realize what a Trojan horse can mean.

But the tone of this document is universal. Nations instead of looking after themselves have become impudent and demanding and act as though the United States owes them a living. Rapidly we are becoming the prey of a gang of blackmailers who make increasing demands and threaten to go over to the Russkies if we do not come across.

Well, let them go over. If there is a war, it will be fought by weapons that have annihilated time and space and these countries which believe that they have something to sell to one side or the other will soon enough discover that a missile does not even recognize that they are on the map. It is time to show that to some of the blackmailers with charts.

Small Temperature Ups and Downs No Cause for Alarm

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me if I am right in believing normal body temperature varies up to 98.6 degrees, but if it reaches 99 we have a fever.—Mrs. C.P.W."

You're a little bit off the beam, although not very much. If you mean that the temperature is "normal" if it's below 98.6, but that four-tenths of a degree above is bad, that's not quite true.

Variations in temperature, if they are small, mean little. If the variations are large, they become alarming whether or they are above or below normal.

The average body temperature, as measured by a thermometer under your tongue, is 98.6.

It may rise to 99 or slightly higher without one being ill. Technically you "have a temperature" at 98.7, and technically you are "subnormal" if you have 98.5.

Infection Suspect

But a tenth of a degree, or several tenths, is so small a discrepancy that they don't mean anything serious. Excitation, excitement, a hot bath, a humid day, obesity—all these are common matters which can raise your temperature half a degree, more or less.

If, on the other hand, your temperature has consistently been 98.6 and then goes to 99 or more, and stays that way persistently, you have reason to suspect that an infection is present. The rise in temperature is part of nature's way of fighting the infection.

Likewise such a moderate rise in temperature, or "low grade fever" as it is often called, can be associated with an over-active thyroid gland. And so much for the above-normal readings.

Sub-normal Readings
Other people are alarmed by a low temperature, say 98 degrees. This is not necessarily unusual or abnormal. Indeed, it is quite common in the morning after you have had a good night's sleep and your body has relaxed and is operating at a slow and easy rate.

Such a sub-normal temperature also is to be expected if the thyroid gland, rather than being overactive, is underactive. The body's metabolism (rate at which it burns up food) is at low ebb, and the temperature tends to decline a bit.

It is wise to be alert to any large variation from the familiar 98.6—but there may be as much significance, and indeed more, if you go drastically below, as compared to a rise above.

Milwaukee Man First in Speed Chess Tourney

A Milwaukee man, Joseph Virovatz, was first place winner in the speed chess tournament held Sunday at the YMCA. The tournament was sponsored by the Y and the Appleton Chess club.

Twelve contestants were entered, including seven from Appleton, three from Oshkosh and two from Milwaukee.

In speed chess play, only ten seconds are allowed between moves. Charles Weldon, Milwaukee, placed second. Tied for third place were Walter E. Haisley and Peter B. Webster, both of Oshkosh.

Appleton players who placed fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively, are Paul Kolosso, D. H. Bates and Curtis Brown.

Census Bureau Ups Its Estimation of Population in U. S.

Washington — The census bureau has raised by 10 to 15 million persons its estimate of the nation's population in 1975.

New estimates released Sunday put the total for that year at between 215,800,000 and 243,900,000 depending on future trends in births, deaths and immigration. The new figures replaced estimates made only two years ago that the total would run between 206,900,000 and 223,500,000. The present total is about 175 million.

The fastest growing group, the bureau said, will be young adults from 18 to 24 years. It estimates they will number 25 million by 1970, or 10 million more than last year.

Children Collect $690 for UNICEF

Children from seven Appleton churches abandoned the usual Halloween pranks this year and on Oct. 31 collected $690.50 for UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency fund.

The project was sponsored by the Y's Men, service club of the YMCA, which was in charge of distributing material to the Sunday school heads, who in turn explained the project to children attending Sunday school the Sunday prior to Halloween.

Those churches active in the UNICEF program include: Trinity Lutheran, First Congregational, All Saints Episcopal, Memorial Presbyterian, First Methodist, Mt. Olive Lutheran and Evangelical United Brethren.

Costume Prizes

Greenville — Prizes for the best costume for the old time and hard time dance sponsored by the Civic club of Greenville at the Silver Dome hall were won by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reis and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Radickel.

Vandals Cost Town $55

Greenville — The Halloween vandalism will cost the town of Greenville about $55 including labor, repair to signs, reflectors and posts and some new signs.

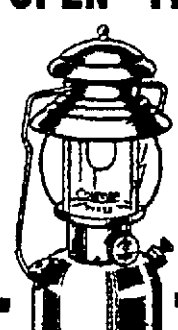

The roofs on the out houses at the town hall were fastened on and repaired. Rudy Spreeman and Harry Schoettler, town supervisors, spent a day checking on the damage and doing repair work.
